Many thanks to Mr. Edwin Vandermeulen, father of Westwood student John Vandermeulen for designing the cover. Special thanks to Mr. Victor Greenshields of Arcadia, California for the use of the photograph on this page. Many thanks to Graeme Sellers for developing the theme of this yearbook.

Indulging in wild encounters,
Crazy evenings,
And insane times never to be
Forgotten, we live.
Losing our inhibitions in
Hysterical laughter,
And relying on craziness to Preserve our sanity,
We become one in the bond
Of friendship.
We share, we love, we laugh.
There's nothing like it.

The opportunity to be one
In mind and purpose,
And the chance to Accept and meet a challenge
Are both a part of teamwork.
Combining our efforts allows
Us to learn from each other.
We come together,
And in the spirit of teamwork,
We excell.
Working as one.
There's nothing like it.

Allowing ourselves to Trust each other,
And yet recognizing
The differences that
Distinguish our individuality,
We grow together.
Though none
Are the same,
We share experiences
Common to all.
A harmony is ours.
There's nothing like it.

A love that will span
All eternity.
A love that will endure
The tears.
A love that will understand
The doubt.
A love that will comfort
The hurt.
A love that will inspire
More love.
Such a love is ours.
There's nothing like it.

The thunderous ovation rolls
From the aisles like a tremendous
Wave clapping against the shore.
Reality is masked by fantasy;
Dreams spring to life on the Stage.
The stage is alive with
Dancing lights and mirror images.
The curtain falls.
And the roar of the crowd
Is deafening.
There's nothing like it.

Upright on skates in a
Daring exhibition of skill,
And finally ending up
Sprawled out on the sidewalk
In a crumpled, laughing heap,
We eventually realize that we Cannot defy the laws
Of gravity.
A daredevil attempt here,
A breath-taking stunt there,
And a collision virtually everywhere.
There's nothing like it.

She is a proud nation.
She flies high
On the wings of democracy;
She remains constant
Through the winds of change.
She is a vision of
Glory, a dream of hope.
Built on a foundation
Of freedom,
She is a fortress strong.
She is America.
There's nothing like it.

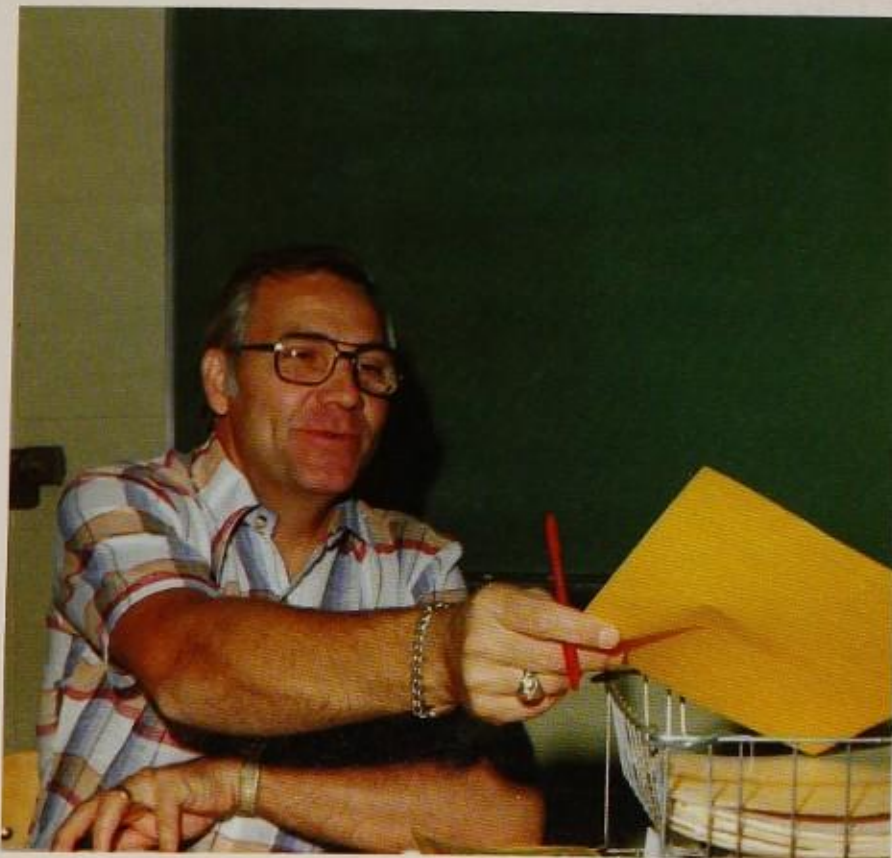

Yearbook Staff Honors Four Outstanding People With This Volume

Helping students with a writing problem is one of the tasks which Ms. Jan Pipes enjoys. Above, junior Kurt Winn, explains what he feels is needed to improve his writing and Ms. Pipes agrees that he has found the solution.

"Let me demonstrate with this dummy just how to sell a jacket", is what Mr. Randy Mertz is telling his DE class. Selling is what Mr. Mertz and his students do best and it's Mr. Mertz who prepares them so well.

"Well there goes another paper into the out basket", is what Mr. Rod Richmond is probably saying to himself as he grades another paper. Mr. Richmond gives his all to be sure and keep abreast of his students' work.

"Congratulations for a job well done", is what Assistant Principal Louis Casillas says to football star Kurt Harris after an especially good week on the football field.

Yearbook Dedication

Randy Mertz came to us in January 1978 from West High School in Phoenix, and before that from New York State. His broad "a" still identifies him with New York, but other than that, he has become a real westerner and a true Arizonan. His unlimited energy and enthusiasm, his expertese in his field make him a real dynamo for DECA. Under his supervision, the DECA Club of Westwood has brought home many honors, State National, and a room filled with plaques, medals, trophies too numerous to mention.

Mr. Rod Richmond, a native of Nebraska, is one of the "elite few" who started at Westwood way back in 1961 when the school opened. He has been teaching Warriors good English for the past 19 years, and doing it well, for Mr. Richmond is truly a "master teacher" as his hundreds of students throughout the years will attest. He became boys tennis coach four years ago, and his success there has been phenomenal. He has coached one team to State victory, and had four outstanding seasons.

Mrs. Jan Pipes began her teaching career fifteen years ago at Kino Junior High. Three years later she "Moved Up" to Warriorland to begin a long and successful career as an outstanding English teacher. This low key, quiet spoken young lady from Iowa teaches her students in such an interesting manner that they not only enjoy it, but they are not quite aware that they are being taught. Her leadership capabilities were recognized, and for the past four years she has successfully supervised the English teachers, serving as Department Chairman.

Louis Casillas, assistant principal in charge of athletics, is also the principal in charge of the sophomore class. Mr. Casillas has a super big job taking charge of all athletic events, the eligibility of all athletes and the hundreds of details involved with these many sports. He also spends a great deal of his time working with sophomores and their scheduling and discipline problems. This native Arizonan born and raised in Superior, joined the Westwood staff in 1973, and if you really want to get a big smile from him, ask to see a picture of his grandson.

Sacrificing our self-discipline,
Denying our self-doubts,
We let ourselves go.
We scream ourselves hoarse,
Run ourselves ragged,
And discover that we look
Terribly silly in the process.
Yet we also find ourselves;
We see a new person,
Who enjoys being involved with others.
Class activities and participation.
There's nothing like it.

Proud Warriors Bust Into The Hello Scene

Once again Westwood High got off to a good start, and the start was to finish off the class of '82.

The traditional "Hello Assembly" was the upperclassmens' way to welcome the new kids on the block. James Sturdevant addressed the old as well as the new students and discussed the policies and rules of Westwood.

John Beatty, Stacey Davis and Amy Cundiff were sworn in as Student Body Executives and this was the beginning of their new year as president, vice president and secretary. A traditional skit was performed by the new officers of student council, showing the sophomores' first day of school.

The young ones took revenge by running for student council. Elected sophomores were Dirk Gardener, president, Faylene Eaves, vice president, and Peggy Tryon, secretary. The two student body publicity directors are Kim Batchelor and Francie Heywood. Kandee Winn was elected to the student body position of treasurer. The assembly then really got in an uproar with the yells from the cheerleaders and the swinging hips of the Warriorettes as they grooved to the beat as the drummers performed "Honky Tonk" while Westwood's mighty marching band marched in.

Fall Activities Hits Campus At Westwood

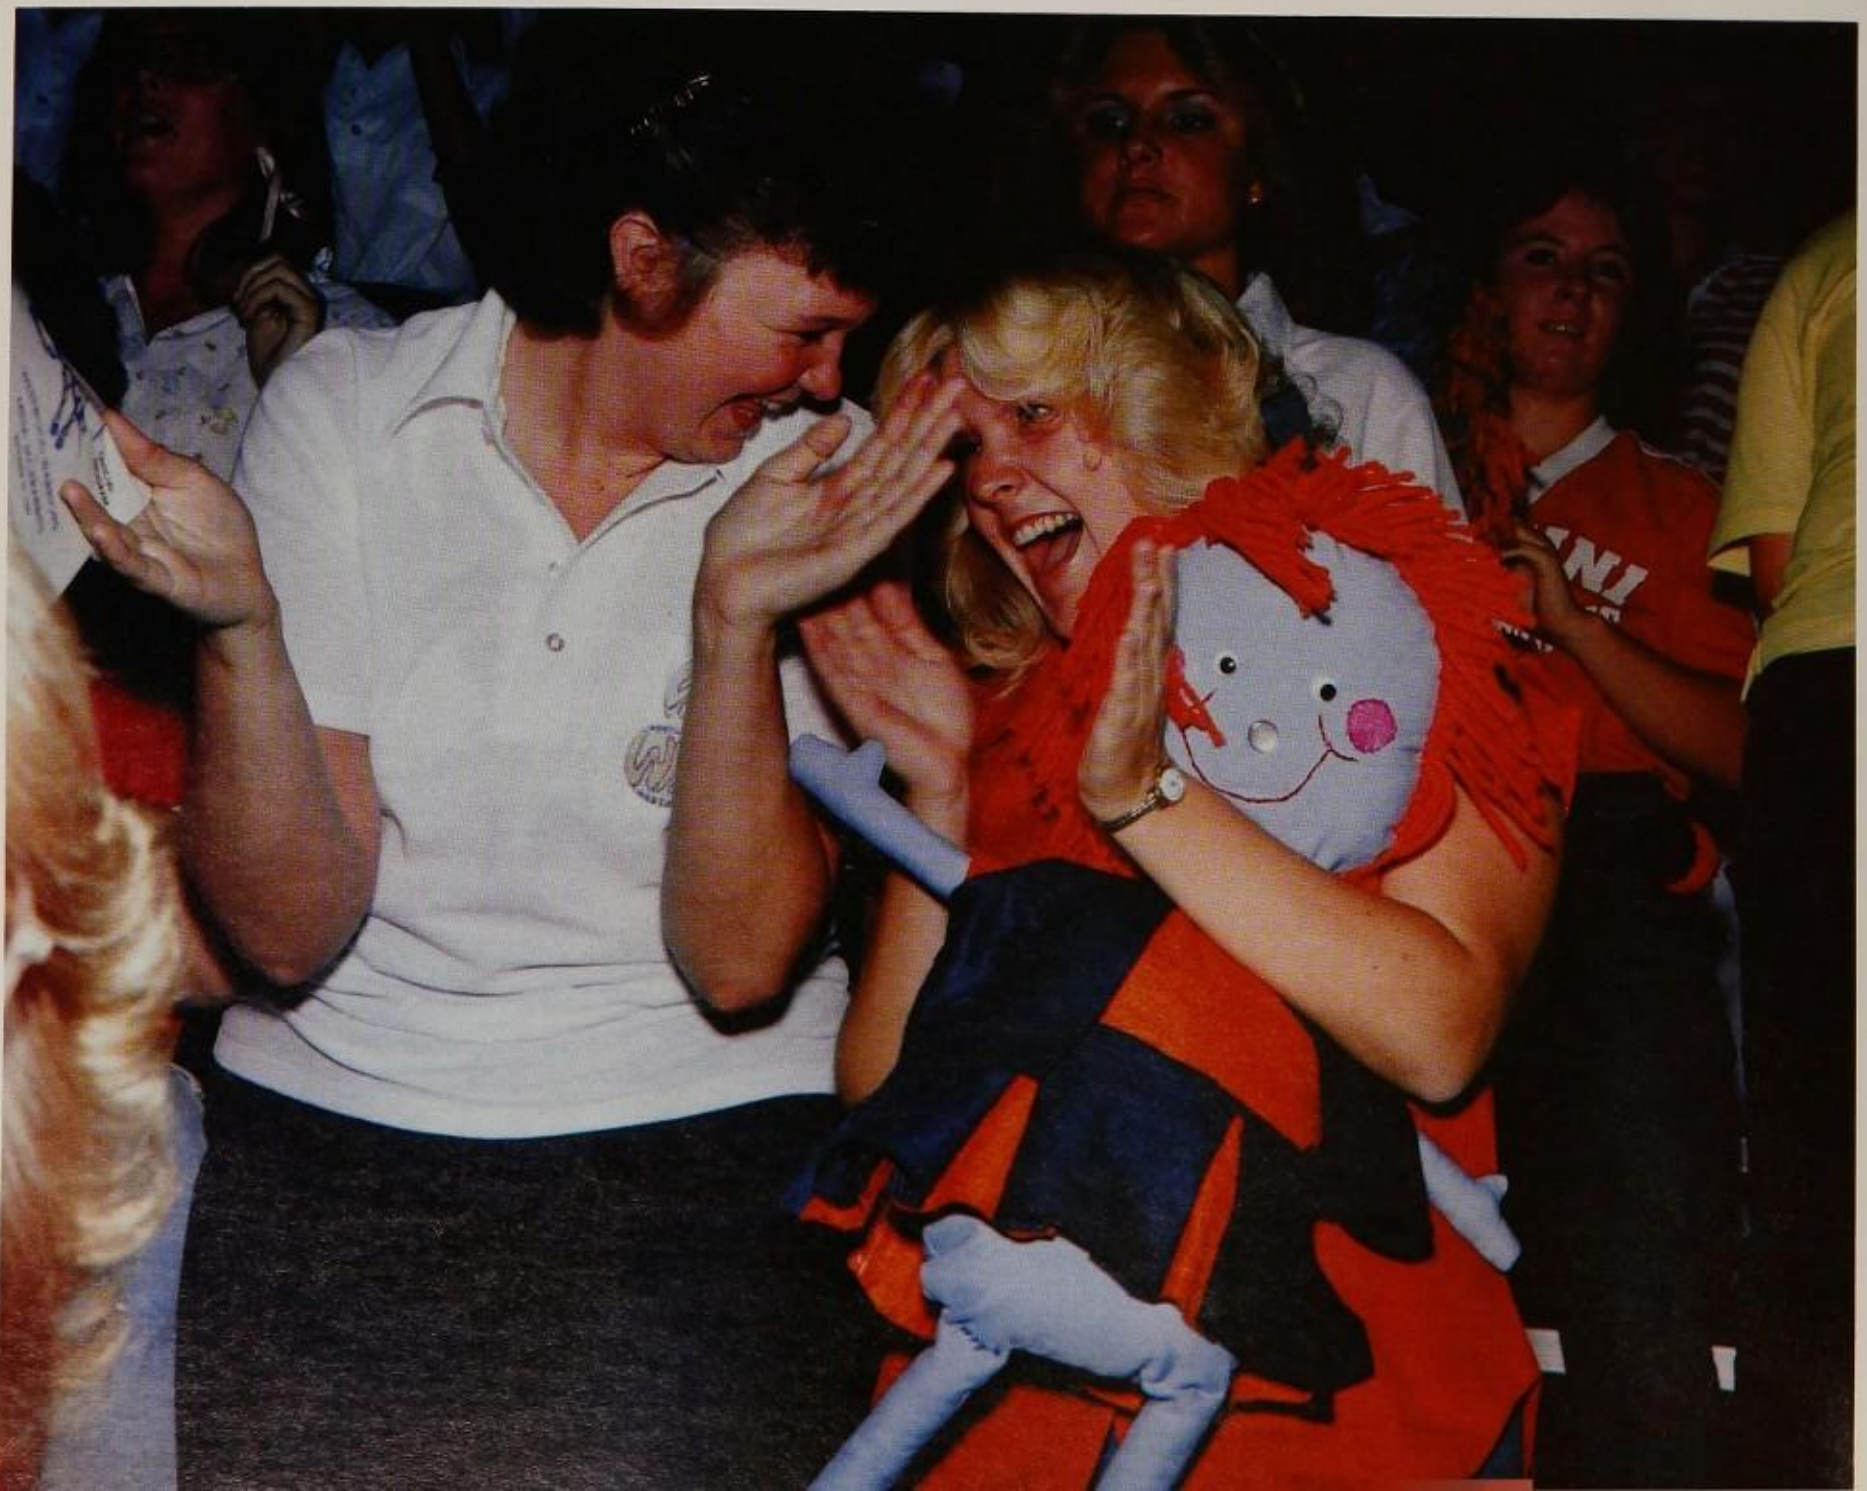

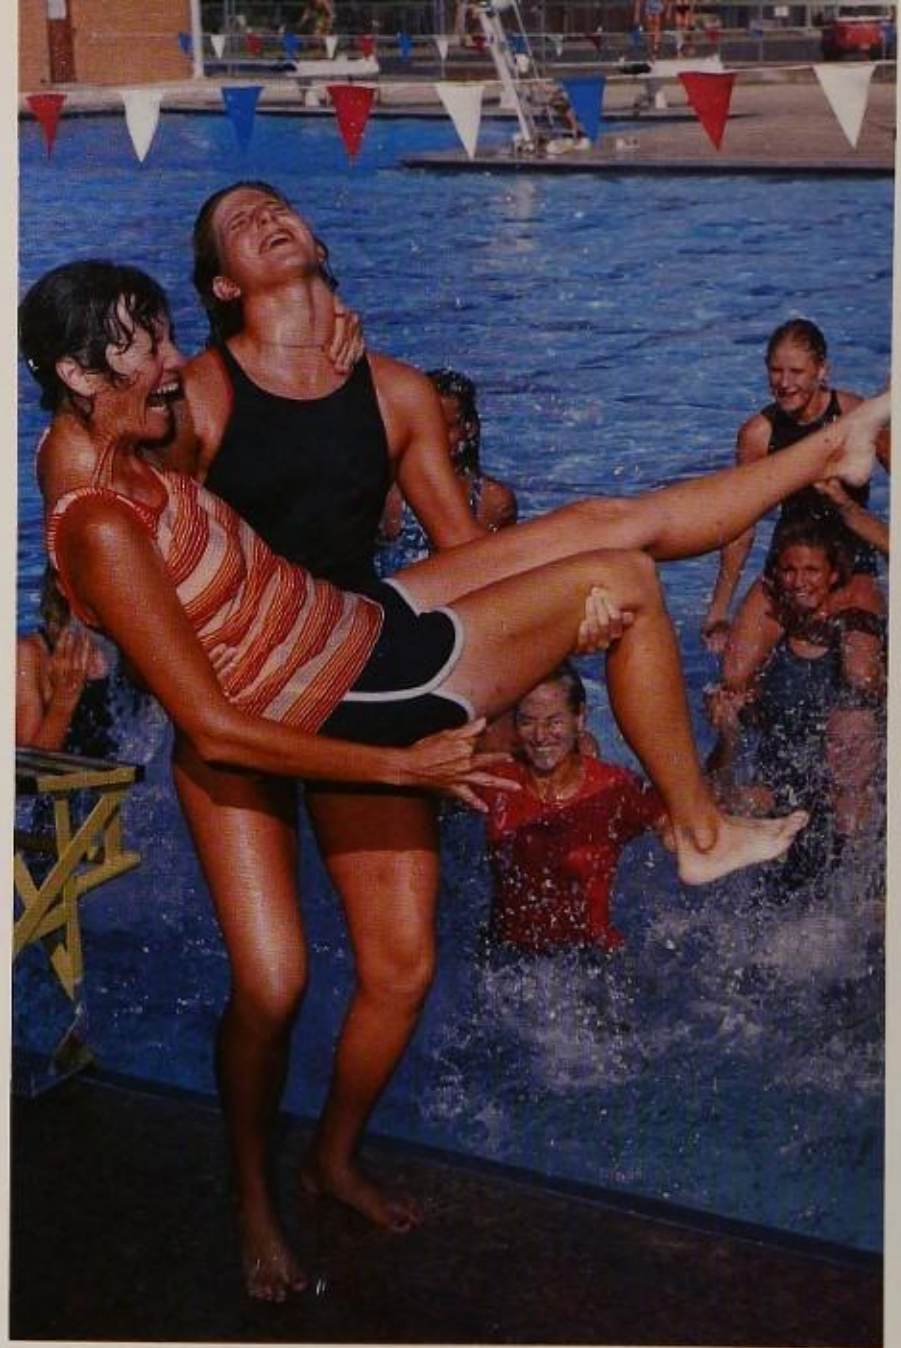

With the start of the school year at Westwood, students found they had put off things they should have done earlier — so students trying to get to the bookstore was a common sight.

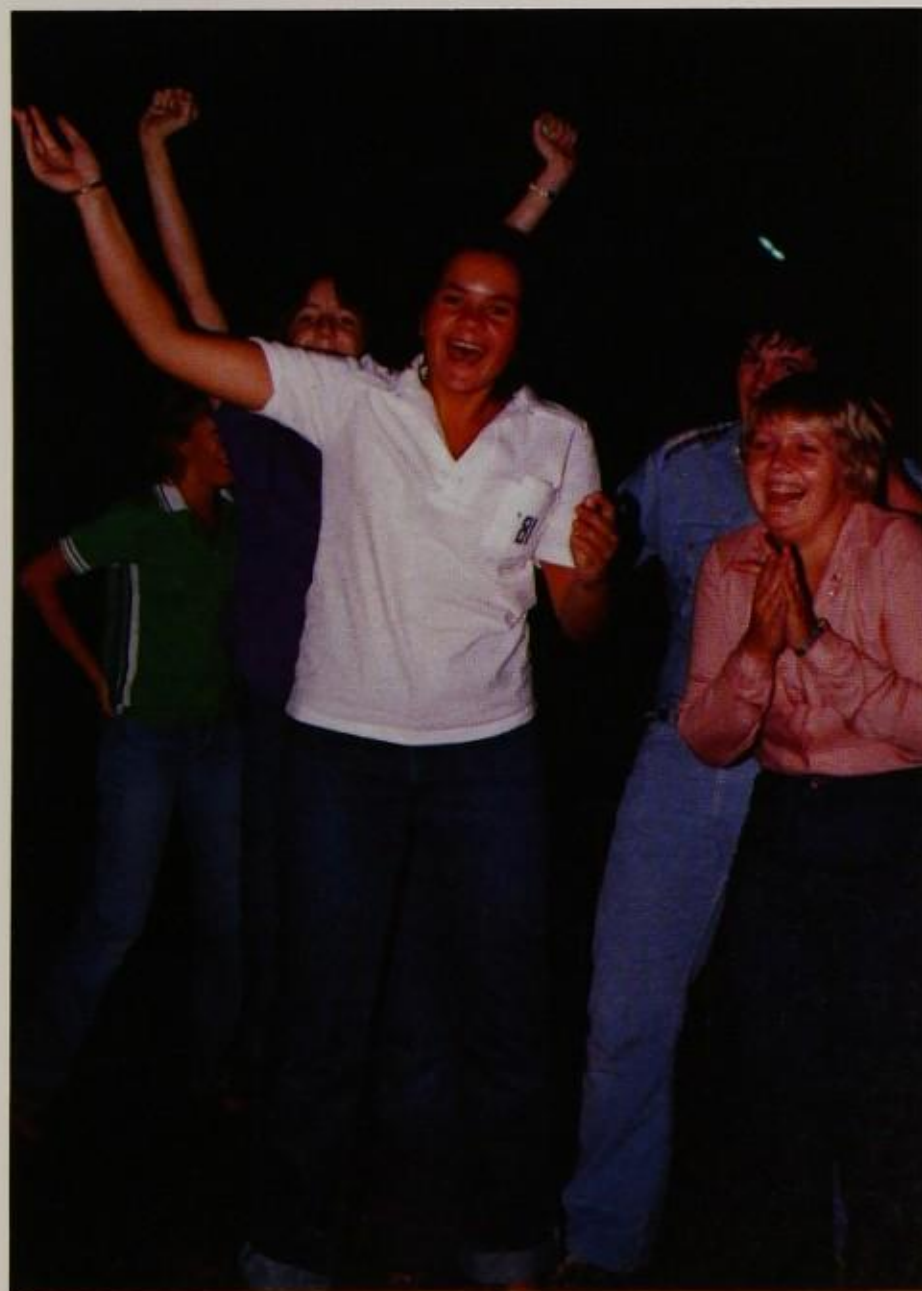

After students got their books they had to do something with them, and it was normal to see students in the library studying hard, after a summer of fun.

Westwood offered a lot of fun activities in the fall. Some of the activities were Mesa High/Westwood week, where on certain days before the football games students would wear boots, hats, or tease their hair for spirit; lawn projects were also made.

One of the biggest events Westwood sponsored for spirit was the week of the Mountain View/Westwood game, when the school had one of the best bonfires in the history of Westwood. Friday night dances also filled the agenda.

It was not easy for students to give up all those summer activities though, and even after school started people found things to do off campus. Enough summer was still in their blood to make tubing down the river, and cruising Main on Friday and Saturday nights, fun. Even seeing the late movies was a common activity; but as always, it was school that kept students busy during the day.

Fame, Where Does It Begin?

Curtain Time 1980

Stop! This is the police!

It's the Blues Brothers.

Actually, it was Jeff Chapman and Don Rainwater, Masters of Ceremony for this year's "Curtain Time" which was held on October 3.

Jeff and Don introduced the final product of several hours of time; time rehearsing for auditions and time involved in the two afternoons of auditions, not to mention the several hours put into perfecting each act and the designing of the various costumes.

Marie Lemme, student advisor of the annual production, with the help of a panel of judges, selected from 18 acts, the 10 who performed under the theme of "Fame - Where Does It Begin?"

These acts contained a variety of song and dance; mixed with comedy from a popular Monty Python's scene presented by Graeme Sellers and Martin English. Dance Production concluded the assembly with an energetic routine to the theme from the movie "Fame."

Who knows?! Perhaps someday, participants of Westwood's "Curtain Time 1980" will earn their own title of fame.

Homecoming A Smash '82 Does It Again

As in the past, the traditional Homecoming festivities were grand. First with alumni performing their talents in the assembly, then the halftime show featuring the homecoming candidates. As all waited patiently for the announcing of king and queen, the floats passed around on the track for everyone to see. The reigning queen, Gwen Anderson and Brian Nissen, found it a pleasure to crown Kris Maughan and Brent Pine as the new queen and king of 1980. The homecoming candidates were Kathy Foran, Patti Bretz, Debbie Miller, and Tracy Bailly with Bill Humbert, Kurt Harriss, Marlo Crandell and John Beatty. All were chauffeured by community corvettes. There was just one slight disappointment in all this; the class of 82 walked away with the honor of the best float for the second year in a row. Maybe next year they will take first once more.

Homecoming Festivities Enlighten Students And Maughan And Pine Are Crowned King And Queen

Westwood Warriors know, love, and want to be returning alumni. This year several alumni returned for Homecoming to show off their Warrior-type talent. A visit from the Czechoslovakian brothers, Brian Nissen and Brian Larson, highlighted the show.

The class float competition slowly but surely got underway. Each class used the basic theme of "Warriors of the universe, world, and nation." The junior class came through as the victors with their award-winning float. The sophies did well with a second place finish, while the senior class came in a close third.

The Homecoming game was a sleeper until halftime, when the royalty was crowned. Kris Maughan and Brent Pine were announced as the 1980 King and Queen. The Homecoming Dance ended the week of traditional activities. After the dismal loss to Tempe, everyone went out to find something to celebrate, and popular spots included L. J's Pizza Inn and Bobby McGee's.

Campus Groups Aid In Building Spirit

Warriorettes and cheerleaders began their role of encouraging victory in July of 1980 when they represented Westwood at spirit camp, which was held at Northern Arizona University. Both groups received several awards which included 'Superior' trophies from overall judging of participation, 'Superior' ribbons from evaluations, and the cheerleaders were presented with the 'Spirit Stick' to bring back to Westwood for having the most spirit.

The cheerleaders and Warriorettes entered the 1980 school year with several changes from previous years. Both groups received new sponsors. Sandy Cooper was Warriorette sponsor with Sally Bixby. The cheerleaders stated that Barbara Commons was the best cheer advisor they ever had experience with. Two boys: John Tennant and Alan Nichols strengthened the cheer line, by providing an excellent source of variety with more cheers possible. New J.V. cheerleaders also joined the cheering team.

Both groups strived throughout the year with their goal to 'be a team' while having fun, and being the best group at Westwood. The Warriorettes and cheerleaders entertained Westwood during halftime and other special events.

Students Get Involved In School Life

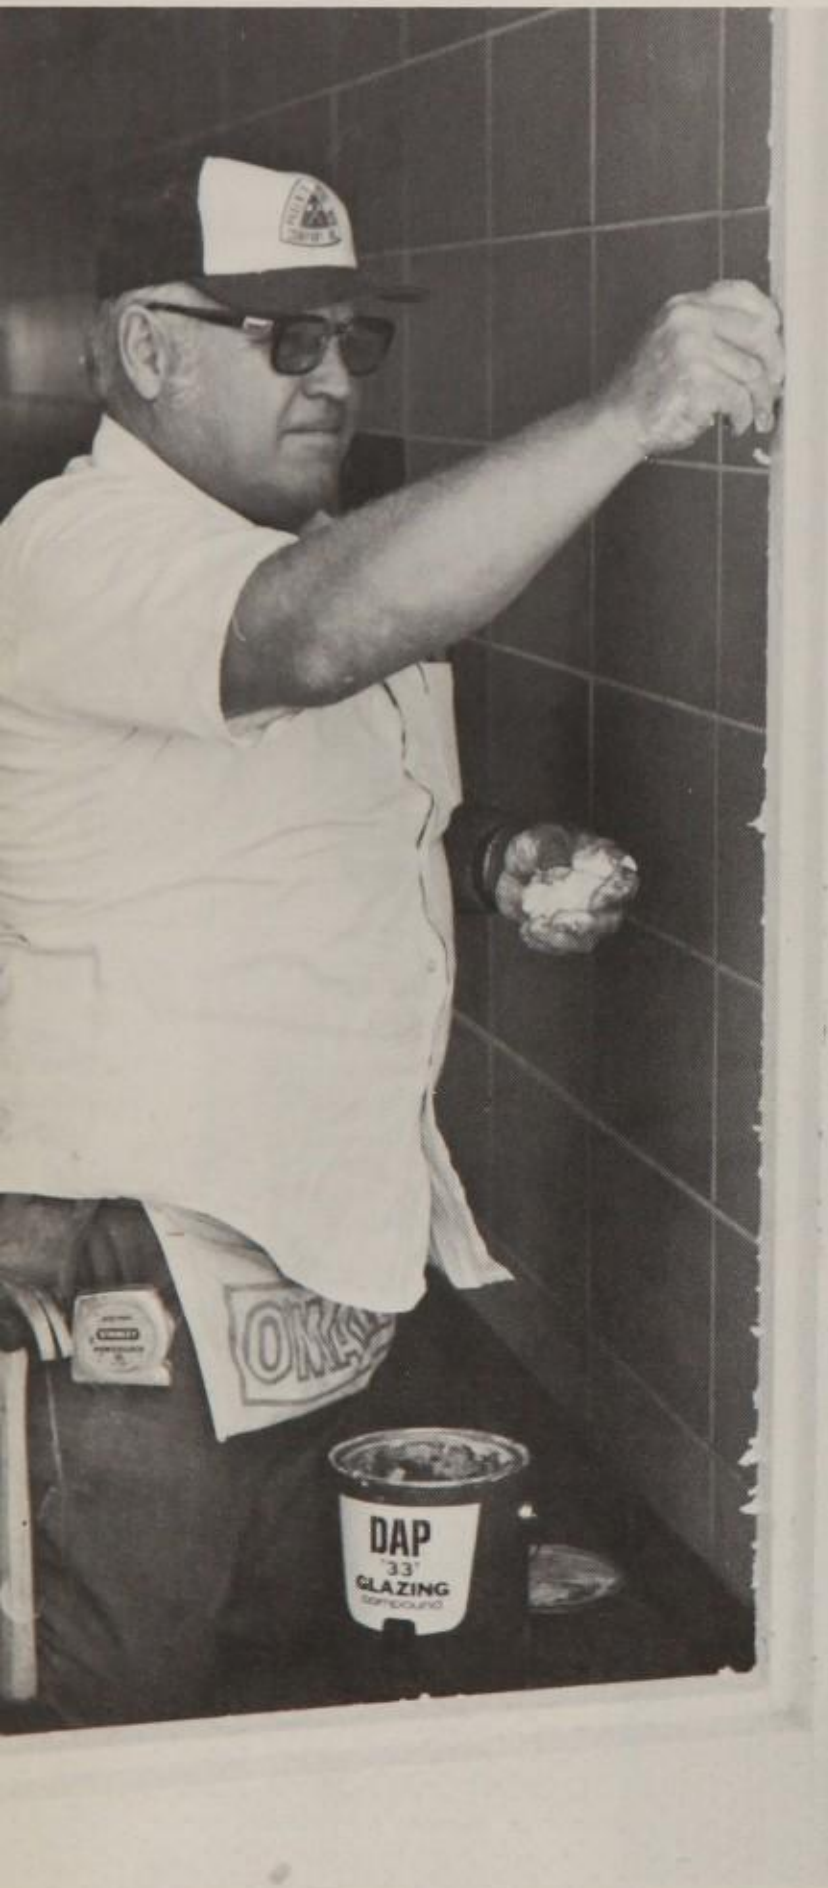

Westwood was more than just classes — it was school activities that made Westwood Westwood.

Some activities went on every day, like students waiting in lunch lines for the cafeteria food, or those who got together with friends and went to favorite eating places off campus such as "Taco Bell" and "Jack in the Box".

Then there were students who found time during the day, sometimes between classes but mostly after lunch, to practice their Frisbee throwing skills or other kinds of "just plain messing around."

There were some activities that did not go on every day, like club meetings. Many of the students at Westwood were involved in some kind of club this year. Early in the school year the clubs held a special week, which was called "Thai - Chewee Week". All the clubs set up booths during this week to try to recruit as many new members as they could.

Westwood's Shepherd Auditorium was a popular site for many activities throughout the year; these included student assemblies like Curtain Time, Homecoming and pep assemblies for all the sports. There were also special assemblies, with students seeing acts like, The United States Army Band; the Magic, Mystery and Illusion show with John Todman; the Freedom Jam Band and many others.

Sellers-Lemme Head Cast Of 'Bell, Book And Candle'

Witchery, passion, and laughter were the fare when a cast of five presented this year's fall play, the Broadway success, "Bell, Book, and Candle."

Written by John van Drutah and directed by Mr. Jay Dean Jones, the play concerns a beautiful young witch, Gillian Holroyd (Marie Lemme), who casts a spell of love on a dashing but unsuspecting publisher, Shepherd Henderson (played by Graeme Sellers).

Shepherd immediately falls in love with Gillian, and unaware that she is a witch, proposes marriage. Although witches can't fall in love, she accepts.

Gillian's warlock brother, Nicky (Jeff Chapman), discovers the wedding plans, and in disapproval casts a spell to split the couple. In between visits from a talented but inebriated author, Sydney Redlitch (Steve Martorano), Shepherd becomes aware of Gillian's unusual stature. Disavowing his love, he leaves Gillian.

Although consoled by her slightly disoriented aunt, (Tracy Bailly), Gillian loses her magical powers when she realizes that she is in love with Shepherd. In an impromptu visit, Shepherd discovers that Gillian is no longer a witch and that she truly loves him; and the curtain closes with the two lovers in an impassioned embrace.

Lowry
Takes
Chieftain
Title

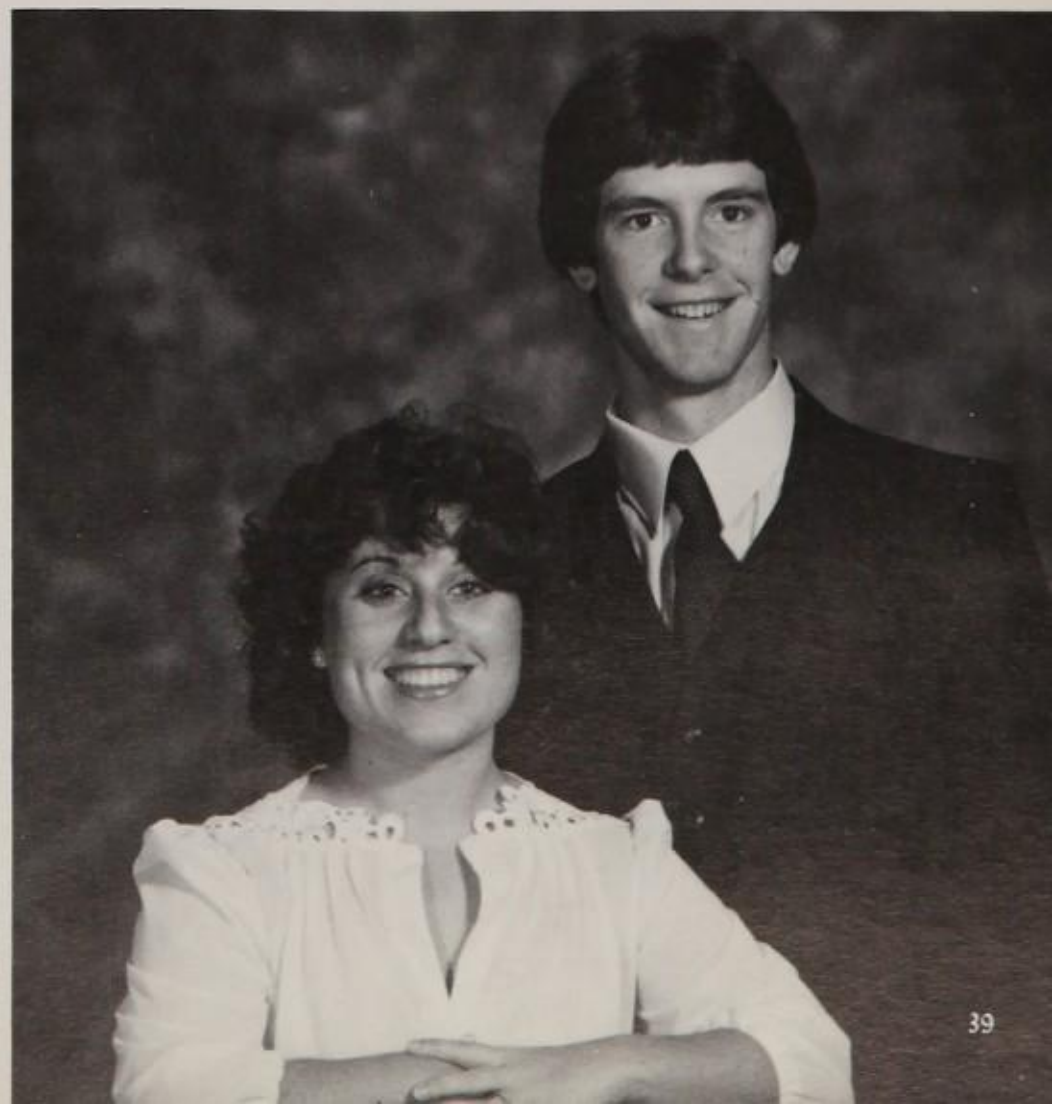

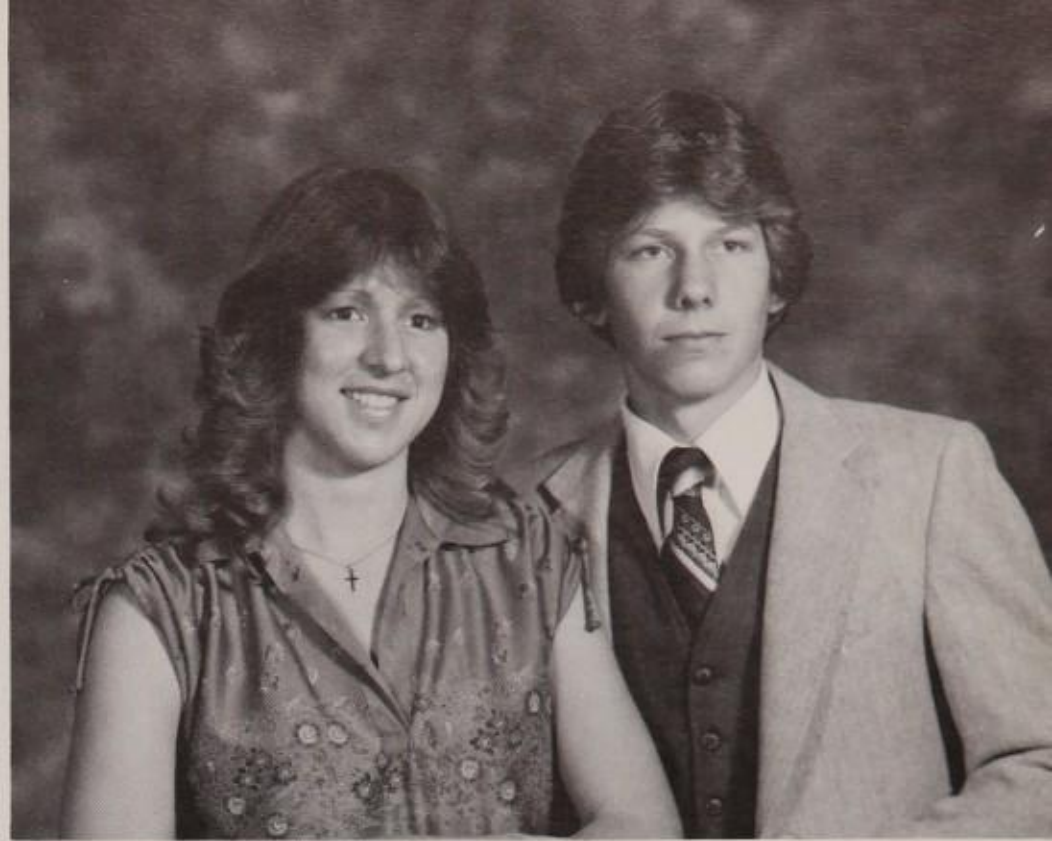

On January 16th, following the Mesa-Westwood basketball game, the 1981 Chieftain Princess was crowned. This year, unlike in the past, a deserving staffer was given this honor. This coveted title, which is given to a senior girl on the publications staff, now belongs to Mary Lowry.

Mary has been a member of Westwood Publications staff for three years. During this time she participated in almost every aspect of production on both staffs. Drawing layouts, writing copy, and writing newspaper stories were just a few of the responsibilities Mary had. Whenever either staff had a problem meeting a deadline, Mary could always be counted on. She truly believed in both publications and devoted many long hours and weekends, taking time away from social activities, to see that all was accomplished. The Chieftain and War Chant could never have accomplished as much if it weren't for staffers like Mary, as well as the other four candidates.

The other four candidates were all very deserving young ladies. Jeane Welch served as co-editor of the War Chant, and also as yearbook staff member. Debbie "Florida" Collins was this year's co-head photographer. The excellent pictures in this book are the product of talented photographers like Debbie. Kris Mrotek had the title of co-editor for this publication. Her hard work and patience contributed greatly to the success of the yearbook. Sharon Skalbeck was also a co-editor this year. Her leadership ability and knowledge were an important factor in the success of Westwood Publications.

We congratulate you once again, Mary, and appreciate the time and effort you have put forth. The Chieftain and War Chant would not have been a success if it weren't for staffers like Mary and the other Chieftain candidates.

"I Want It" Proves To Be Very Successful!

The 1981 Senior Class Play, a production fifteen months in the making, finally moved from the typewriter to the stage, and met with tremendous success.

The play was an extravagant production. Utilizing twelve cast members, twenty choir members, and fourteen orchestra members, the play had the rich flavor of the entire Senior Class.

Written, produced, and directed by Graeme Sellers and Martin English, "I Want It" followed the life of a young, but financially unstable couple. The couple gets an opportunity, through an anonymous letter in the mail, to become rich. The couple becomes consumed with their greed, however, and must face the consequences.

Sterling performances by newcomers Leslie Rollins and Chuck Mayper amazed the crowd. But perhaps the most stunning performance was given by Patrick Dunbar, who was academy award winning material in his role as a corpse.

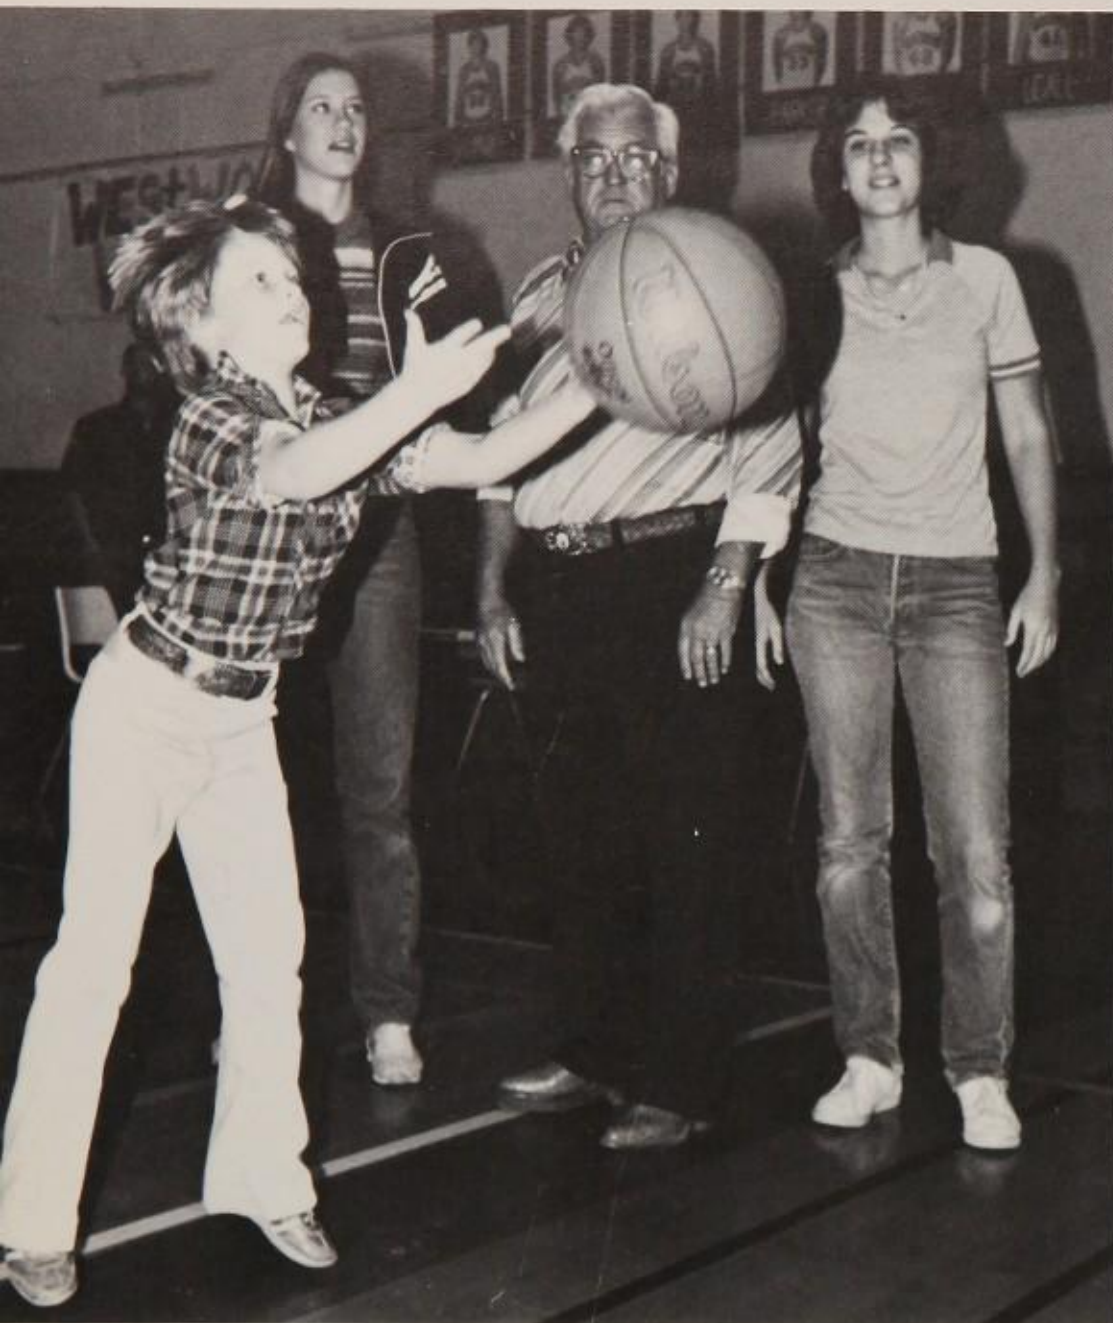

Marie Lemme, Jeff Chapman, John Beatty, Jennifer Stocker, Lynne Padelford, Bryan Emond, and Steve Martorano all acted to perfection. The 1981 Senior Class Play . . . a production characterized by integrity, courage, and sophistication.

Elk's Club Sponsors Annual Hoop Shoot

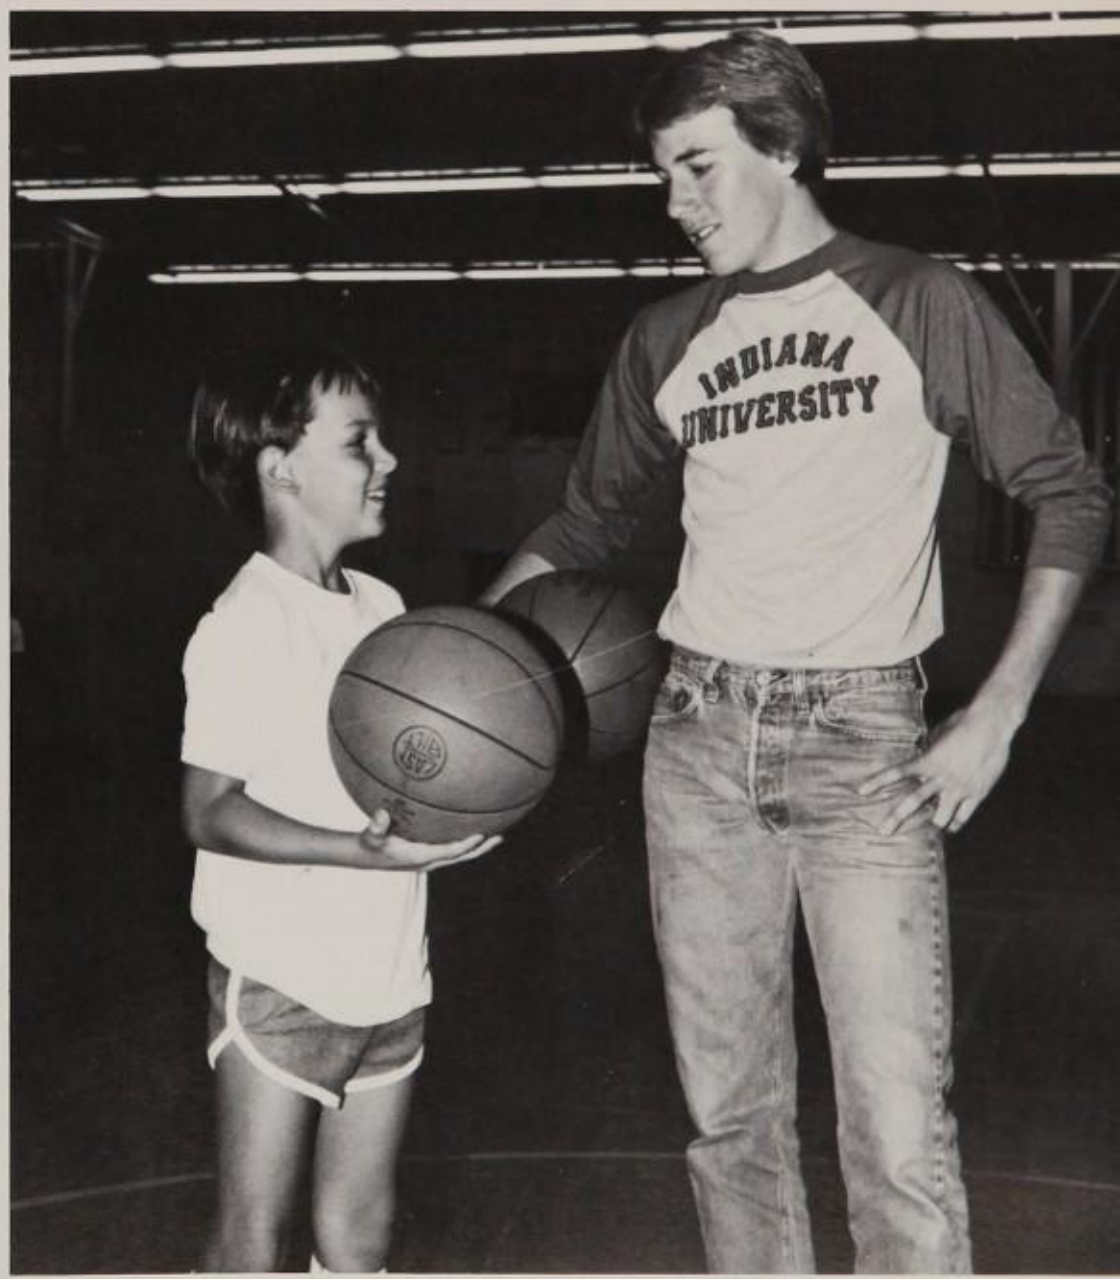

The Elks Club once again sponsored their annual hoop Shoot. It was a contest in which students age 8-12 could compete against one another by shooting basketballs in a freethrow contest. The students who made the most consecutive baskets became the victors.

Several Westwood students helped in the program by aiding in the judging, rebounding, instruction of rules, and demonstration of shooting procedures.

The winners of the regional Hoop Shoot held at Westwood went to the state competition, and any champions left then proceeded to the nationals. The winners received trophies and an all-expensed paid trip accompanied by their parents to Philadelphia to perform at halftime at the 76er's basketball game.

The whole program was considered a success by the contestants, the aids, and the judges. In appreciation for the help of the Westwood students who aided the program, the Elks Club graciously provided them with a much appreciated lunch.

Yuletide Bring Cheer To People Everywhere!

Christmas is considered a time of giving, and Westwood students proved that this year by letting their Christmas spirit overflow. Homerooms as well as clubs got together during the canned food drive and collected a substantial amount of food for the needy in our community during the holiday season.

The Christmas Formal was an event many looked forward to, as romances easily blossomed during Yuletide. The annual Formal was held at Centennial Hall.

The Christmas Assembly turned out to be a great success, as musicians and drama students got together to perform "The Twelve Days of Christmas." The assembly provided a lot of laughs, as well as a spiritual look at the Christmas season as the orchestra and choirs played and sang traditional Christmas carols.

Lemme Captures Junior Miss Title

Over 40 girls from the three Mesa high schools vied for this year's Junior Miss title. The recipient of this year's award was Marie Lemme, who brought this honor back to Westwood. Trudy Klepinger was chosen second runner-up and also received the Talent and Spirit of Junior Miss awards.

Contestants were judged on academics, talent, personality and poise. A week before the contest each girl was individually interviewed. Three days prior to the final night of the pageant, a special talent competition was held in order to allow the girls to show off their finest abilities.

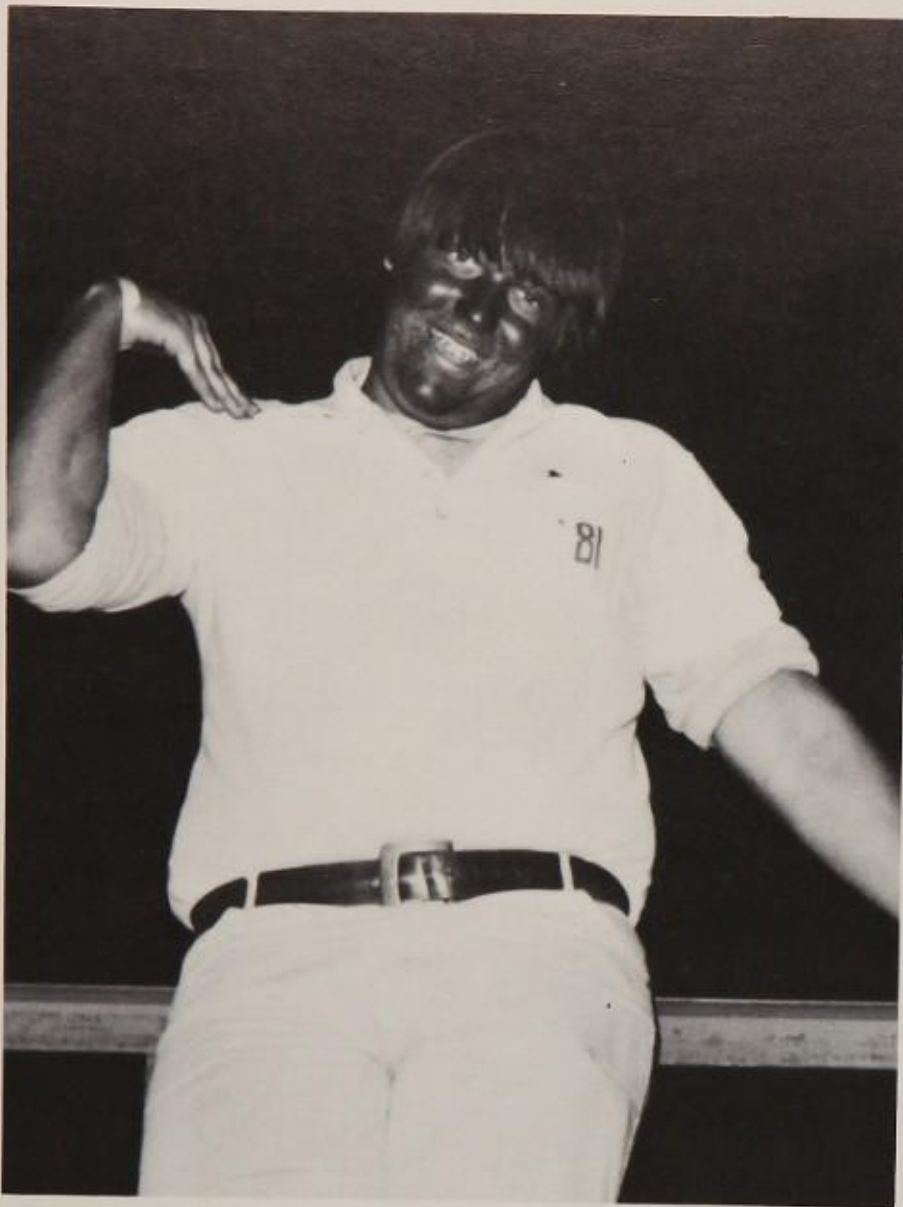

Prizes and priveledges to winners included scholarships, wardrobe certificates, an opportunity to compete in a state-wide pageant and most of all the enriching experience of meeting new people and going new places.

Halloween Was Fun

Halloween, a day for different modes of dress, flourished here at Westwood last fall. Students took an active part in the Halloween tradition of dressing up. Throughout the day many Warriors were seen in different types of costumes; some scary, some sexy, and some far out.

Besides all the festive dress, several activities took place later that evening. A dance was held following the Coronado football game, followed by the Horror Movie, "Wait Until Dark".

Excellent attendance and high spirits helped make all the activities successful and a fun time was had by all.

*The proper standard is
A dedication that endeavors to compell,
A confidence that strives to inspire,
An endurance that yearns to survive,
A discipline that ventures to achieve,
A pride that loves to succeed,
A determination that lives to overcome,
A courage that dares to confront,
And a spirit that refuses to die.
An excellence that is ours alone.
We are the Warriors.
There's nothing like it.*

Gridders Frustrated; Injuries Cause Losses

Plagued by injuries early in the season, the Warrior football squad muddled through humiliation after humiliation, finalizing the season with a 4-4-2 win-loss record.

Arch rivals from Mesa High added salt to the wound by handing the Warriors a rare loss during the annual Westwood-Mesa competition. However, a light shown on the shadow of defeat when the ecstatic varsity gridgers put everything together and trounced the Mountain View Toros for the first time with a final score of 15-7.

The number and frequency of the injuries caused head coach Jerry Loper much discomfort. By the time the injuries healed, a poor season had already claimed the unfortunate athletes, destroying any post-season playoff hopes they had.

The End Of An Era; Gates Says Goodbye

Under the direction of retiring coach Dave Gates and assistant coach Jerry Grubbs, the J.V.'s once again gave opposing teams all they could handle. Despite their 1-7 record, a rare occurrence for Gate's teams, the season produced several stars of the future. Among them were John Hammond, Bob Bedwell, Don Pagan, and Dan Wermuth. These players started on both offense and defense throughout the year. Others singled out by Gates were Eric Leiber, Shea Enos, Russ Oliver, and Dan Chaffman. "The team was very undermanned this season," said Gates. "Because of this, many players were forced to go both ways. But despite this, they never gave in."

Junior Blues coach, George Downing, was very pleased with the season. Under the guidance of quarterback Darren Huffaker, the junior blues won their last five straight games. Scoring for the team was no problem with such offensive threats as Sam Arnett, Mike Milano, Mike Libhart, and Tim Wilson.

Boy Thins Reach Goals; Girls Also Successful

Under the guidance of their third coach in as many years, the boys' cross-country team seems to have found the leader they've been looking for in Coach Mike Gray. "Many pre-season goals were reached and I feel the season was an overall success," Gray said. "We had a tremendous year and I really enjoyed working with the team"

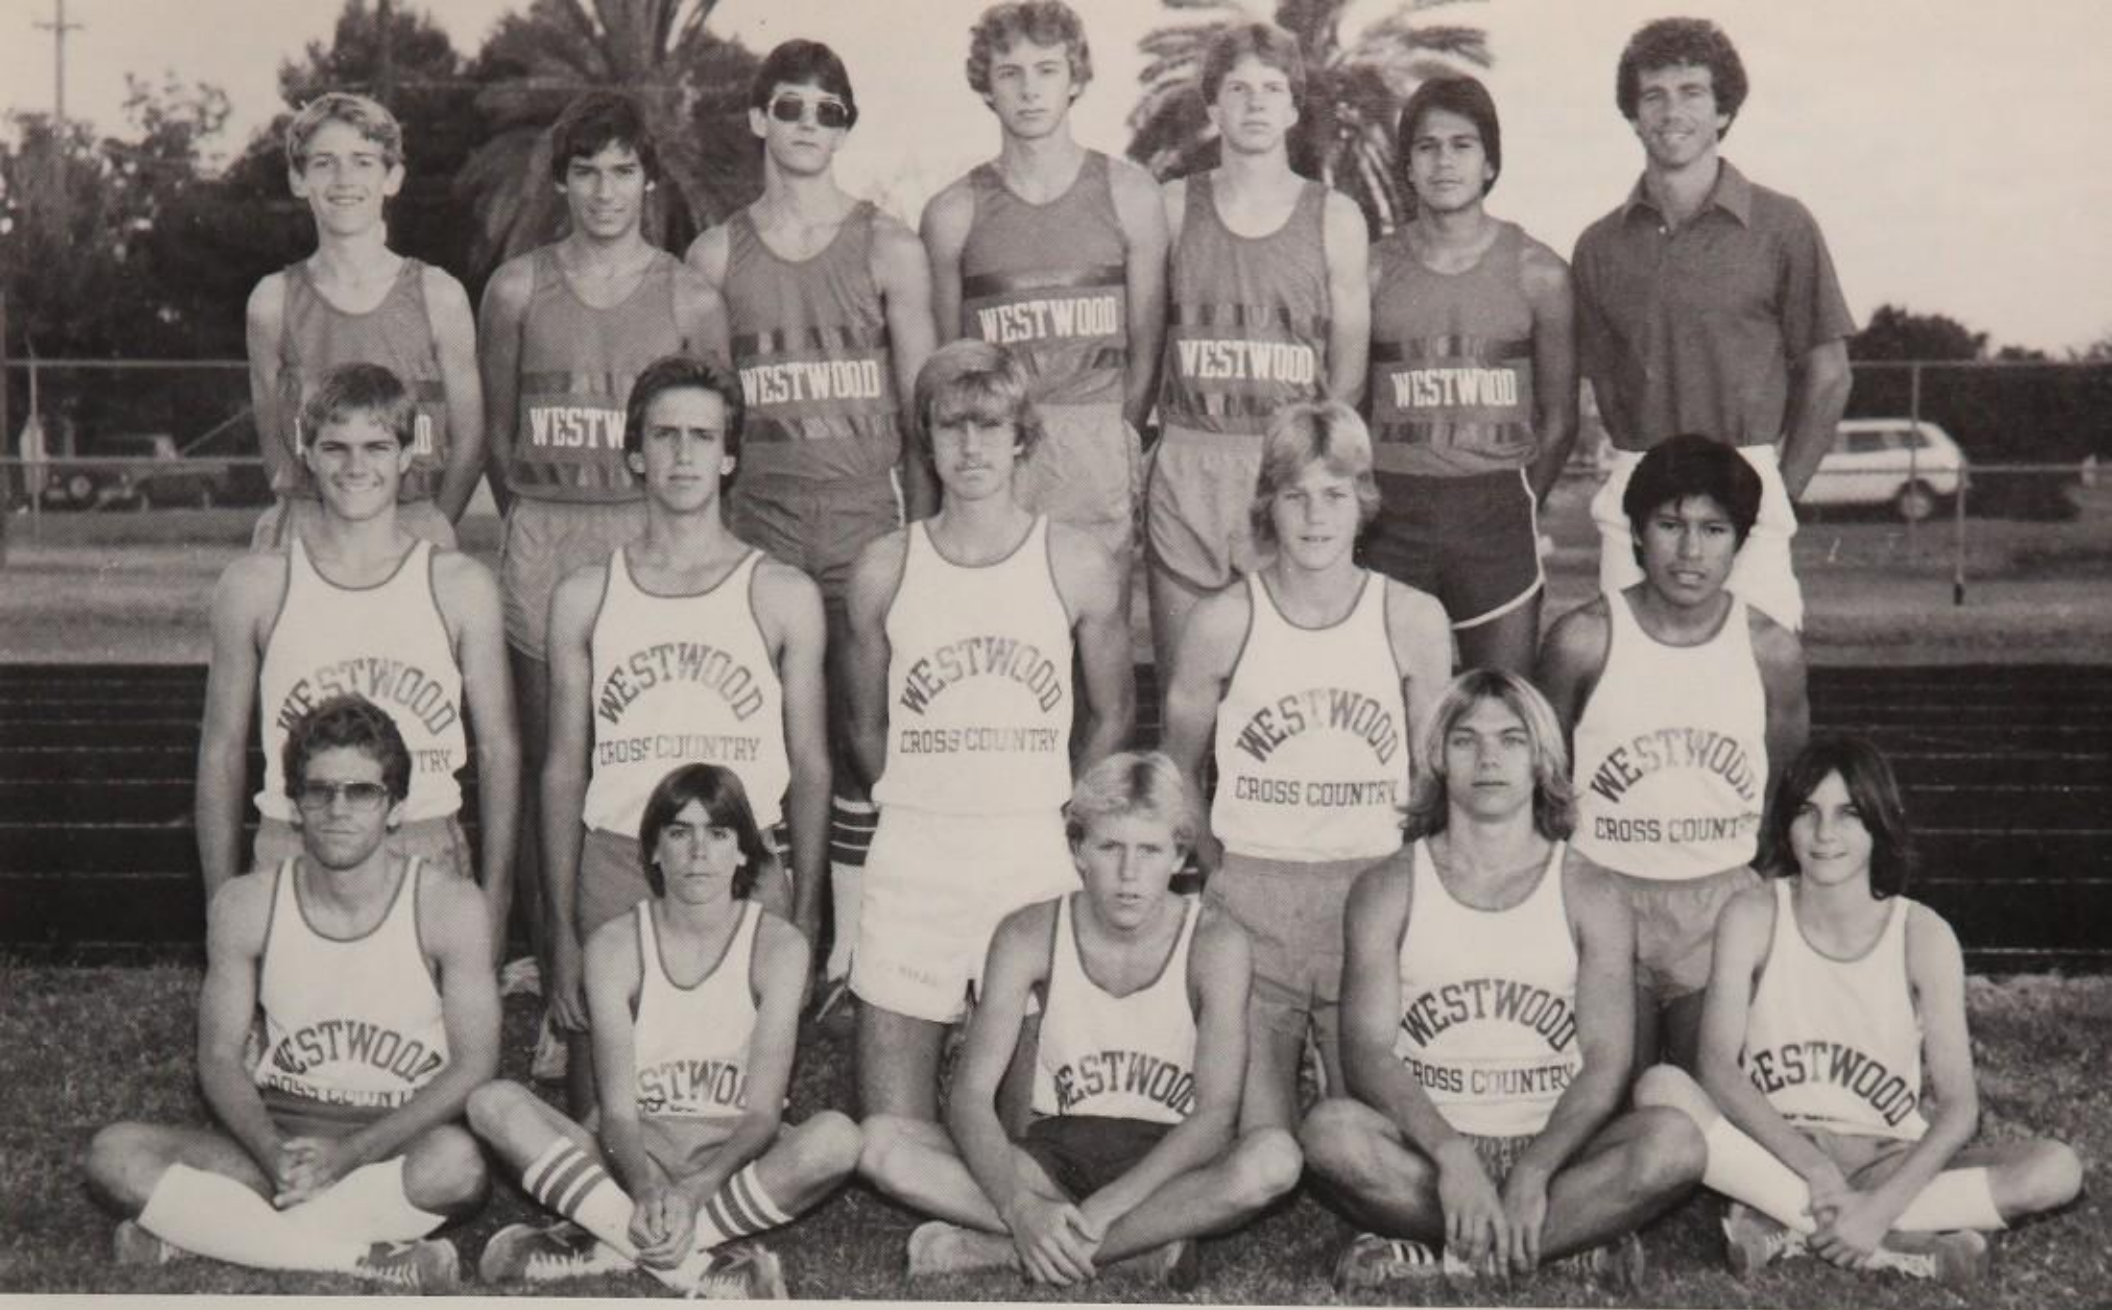

Two major pre-season goals set by the team were to finish the season undefeated and to place in the top ten in the state meet. Led once again by senior Pete Waz, who lost only one dual meet all year, the Warriors finished the season 15-0 and placed 7th overall in the state meet. Along with Waz, Gray singled out juniors Martin Finnegan, Brent Gunnell, and Morgan Goff, who Gray felt was the most improved runner on the squad. Gunnell was the leader in the big meets, coming on very strong towards the end of the year. Starting off as the number four man on the team, Gunnell ended up the year leading the Warriors in the state meet.

The Girls cross-country team, coached by first year coach Barb Anderes, completed a very successful season with a 10th place finish in the state meet this year. Leading the Warriors at state were Sophomore Robin Judy and Freshman Jeanette Davidson who placed 20th and 21th respectively. Co-Captains Teresa Swisher and Valerie Miller played very important roles in leading the team to a 9-4 record.

Boy And Girl Golfers Tee Off Towards Victory

Satchel Page, the immortal baseball player, once said, "Don't look back, something may be gaining on you."

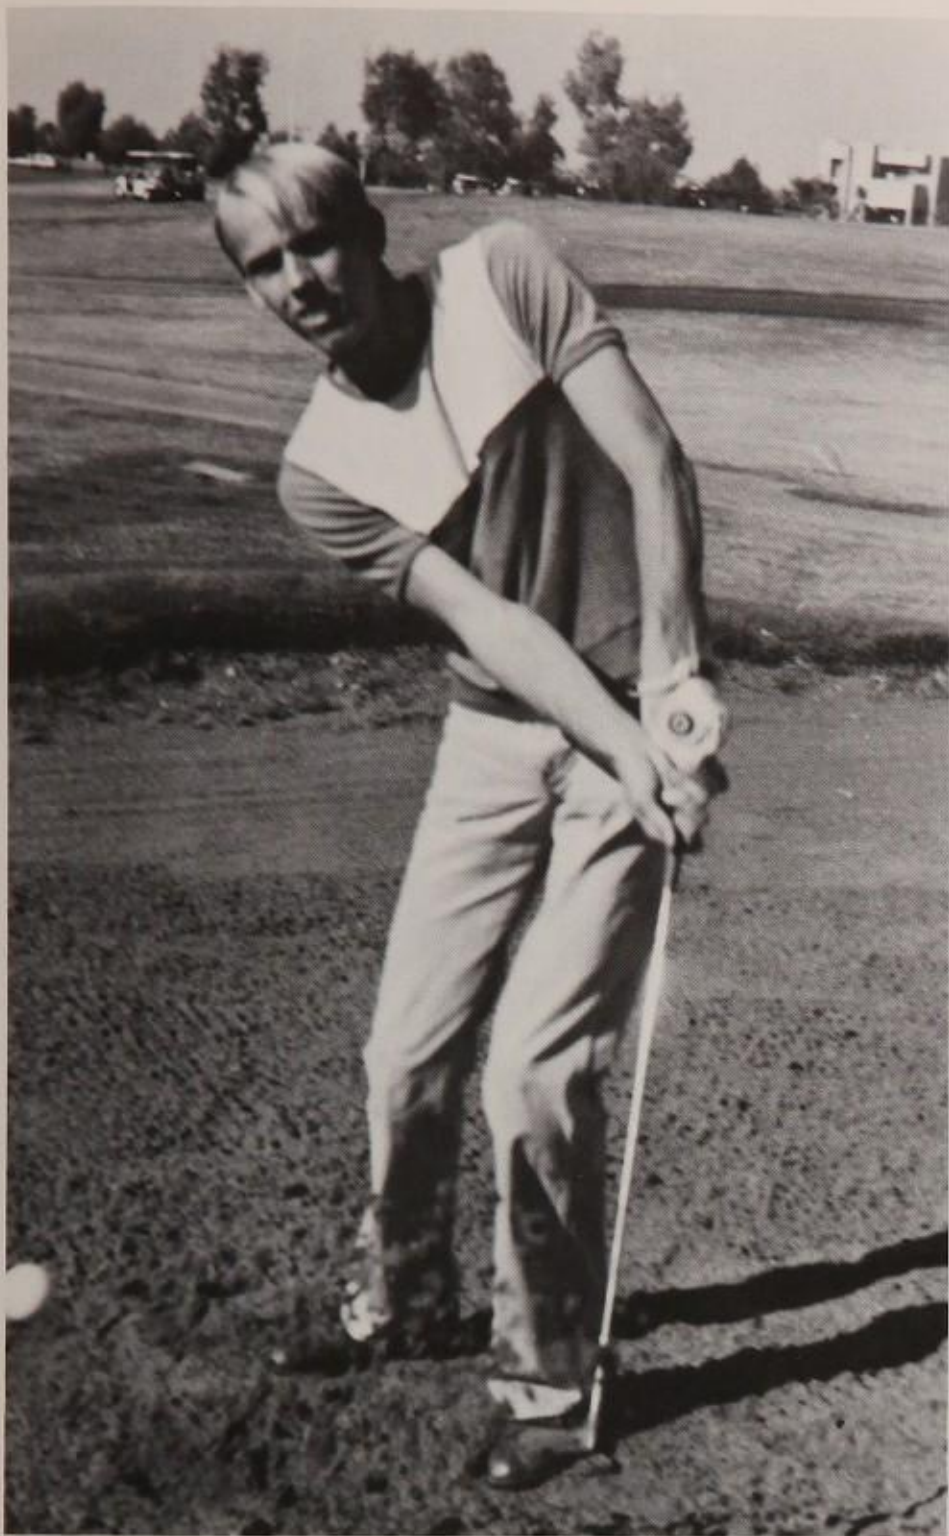

Some of Arizona's finest Triple AAA golf teams may have taken a gander back down the fairway only to be surprised by Westwood's own Girl's golf squad.

The female Warriors, under the first year direction of Coach Ben Townsend, created some surprise in the state. The girls finished second in their division and snagged second place in the Kofa Invitational. Leading the way for the Warriors were Dawn Davis, Katie Petrie, Coleen Cramer, and Shannon Flaherty.

The Westwood boy's golf team was very successful this year under the leadership of Coach Erv Reid. The Warriors finished fourth in their division and sixth in the state. The Warriors had some outstanding performances by Roger Davis, Brad Fleming, Gary Preston, and Danny Montplaisir. The boys combined their efforts in taking sixth place in the Kofa Invitational.

If you thought this year was successful, wait until next year. The girls will have the bulk of their squad back and the boys will also have some returning players.

Girls Take Title; Reynolds Stars

Youth and inexperience were the two words which best exemplified this years girls' swim team. Under the direction of new coach, Dian Ensing the girls went through a dual meet season finishing with a 3-4 record. The girls practiced long and hard to better their dual meet record and as the season progressed the work paid off.

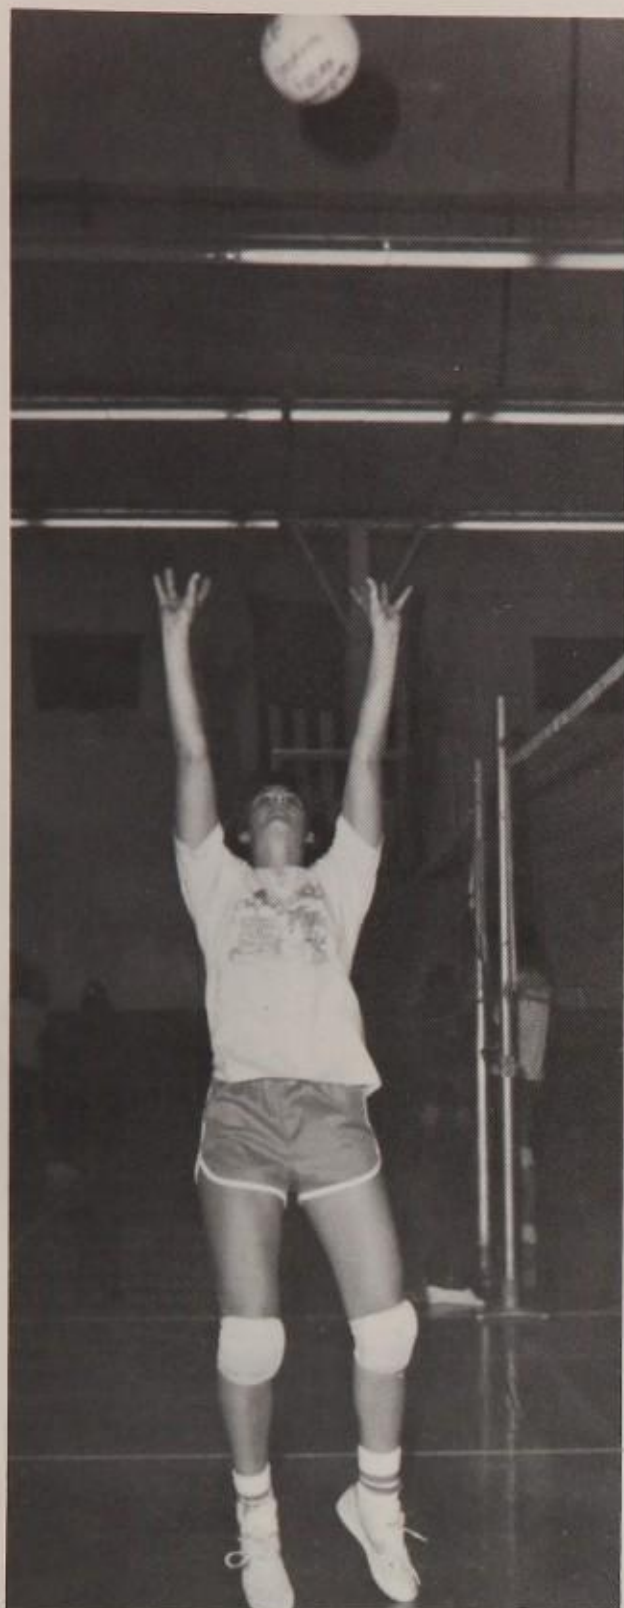

Then the team put it all together. When divisionals rolled around the other teams looked with awe at the eventual winners, yes, you guessed it - the girls from Westwood took the divisional crown by 3 points!

A lot of the success came from the divers on the team under the direction of Mrs. Betty Pipes. Anne Reynolds and Robin Clifton provided the team leadership necessary to take the groups this far. The swimmers proved that success is just a single stroke away.

Netters Excel Girls Do Well

This year, the Varsity Volleyball team set up for a winning season. The team was under the direction of rookie coach, Mrs. Marty Ruggier.

The Warriors won all but 3 games this year. Sandy Beazer, Shellee Bowen, Lisa Gardner, Karen Headley, Karen Hoke, and Cristall White were seniors on the team and held most of the power.

The Warriors also won the Shadow Mountain Invitational Tournament by beating Mesa High for the championship. The team also went to Divisionals as 2nd place in their league. The J.V. squad did well in preparing for next year's season with a 7-5 record.

Also giving teams a run for their money was the Varsity badminton team, coached by Miss Yolie Munoz. This year their record was 6-6. The team was lead by Misty Davis, Lynne Landry, Dee Jackson, and Vickie Willis. The team placed 5th overall during divisional competition with Misty Davis and Lynne Landry placing 4th in doubles and Vickie Willis placing 6th in singles.

Soccer Team Astounds; Takes Westwood To State

Soccer, a world wide sport, finally arrived at Westwood this year. Ron Cole has been coaching the soccer club for the past two years. This year soccer became a competitive varsity sport. Westwood started the soccer season strong with 3 straight wins, outscoring Tempe, Corona, and Deer Valley 13 to 2. After a few set backs, they got back on track and ended their season 6-3-1. According to Cole, "... the team had good depth and formed a good foundation for the coming years."

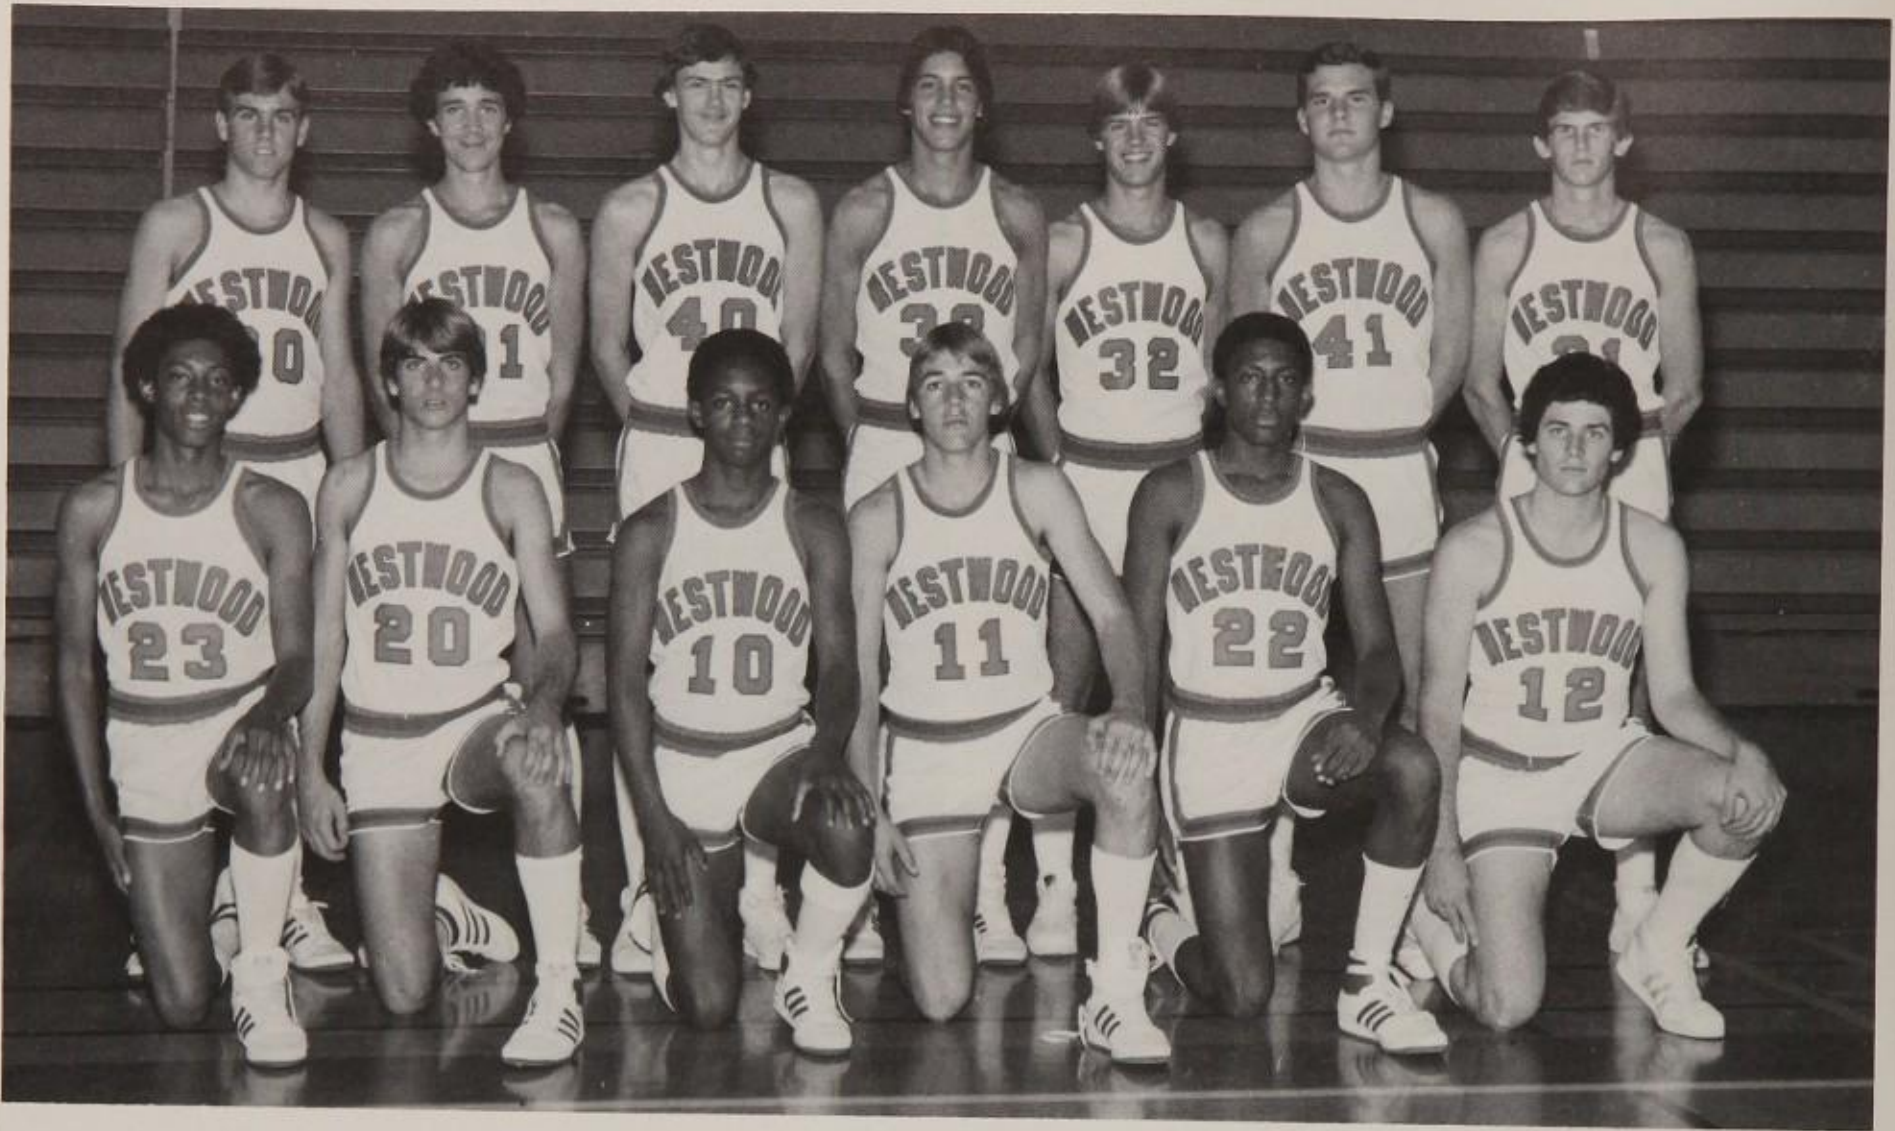

Senior goalie Brian Klinganan, considered by many to be the best goalie in the state, led the Westwood onslaught. He was joined by seniors Mike Tadic, Frank Myers, and Ray Sodeifi, who was undoubtedly the most dangerous ball handler on the squad.

Captain Eric Engstrom, the fastest team member, with his precision assists, helped junior Darin Huffaker become the leading scorer in the state. Other outstanding juniors were Rob Jarvis, Arturo De LaRosa, Al Rodriguez, and Dario Fernandez. Cooperation of both the district and the Administration was a big help, and gave the soccer team much needed support.

Doolen's Troops Display Fitness And Excellence

Every Tuesday and Friday evening from early December to the end of February, Westwood students were treated to exhilarating roundball competition. Upholding a tradition of producing aggressive, spirited ball players, varsity basketball coach Bud Doolen once again fielded a team that represented Westwood well.

Led by a group of talented seniors, the Warriors finished the season with a 12-12 record. Brent Pine, who had 337 points for the season, proved to be Westwood's most dangerous offensive weapon as he led the team in scoring. Many of his points resulted from the rocket passes of Steve Murray, who led the team with 115 assists. Kerry Parker dominated inside play for the Warriors, leading the team in rebounds and blocked shots. The team also received solid contributions from juniors Targe Rischmueller, Cody Neilson, and Robert Seabuerry.

Westwood's junior varsity basketball team, under the direction of Paul Newendyke, compiled an amazing 18-1 record. With the talent of Ron Wehe, Todd Wyant, Ritchie McKay, Danny Chaffman, and Wendell Mukes, the future of Westwood basketball looks promising.

Wrestlers Do Good Job, Murphy Inspires Team

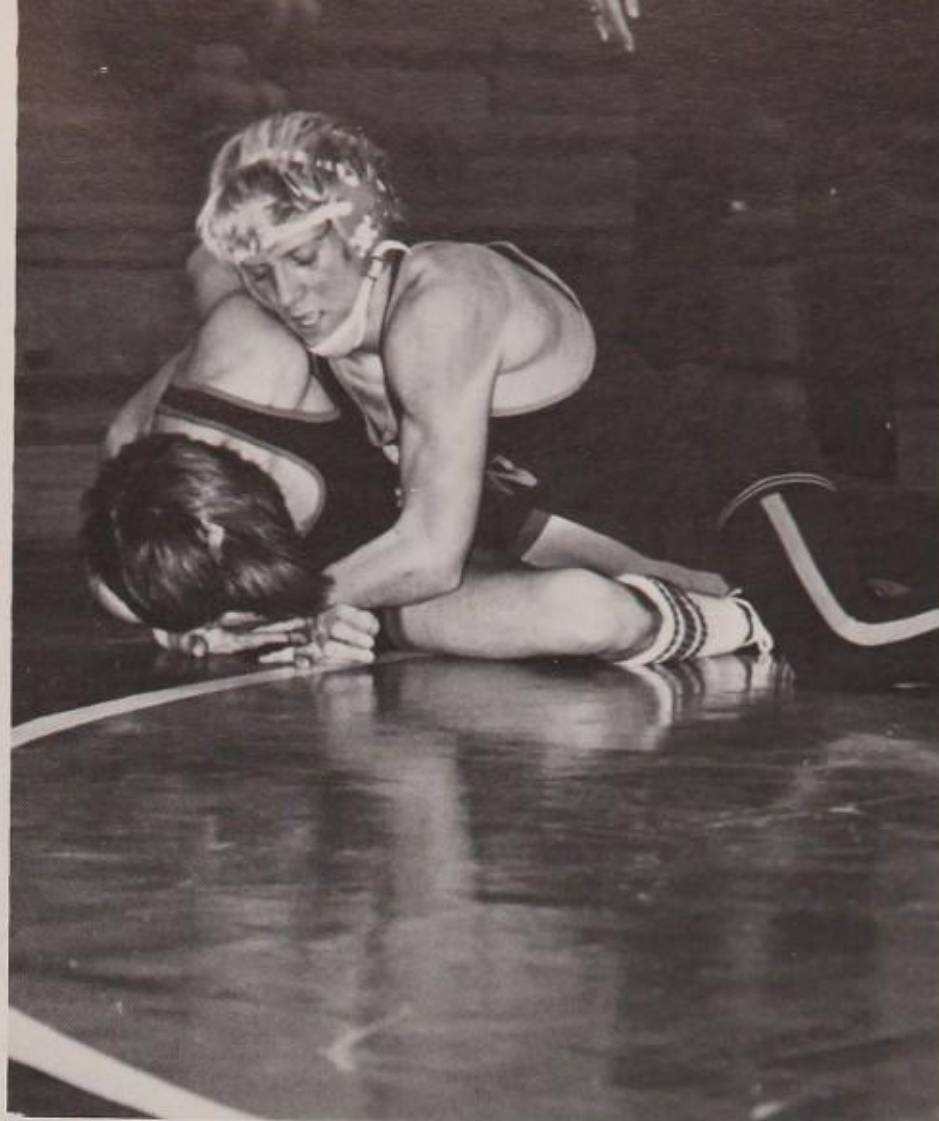

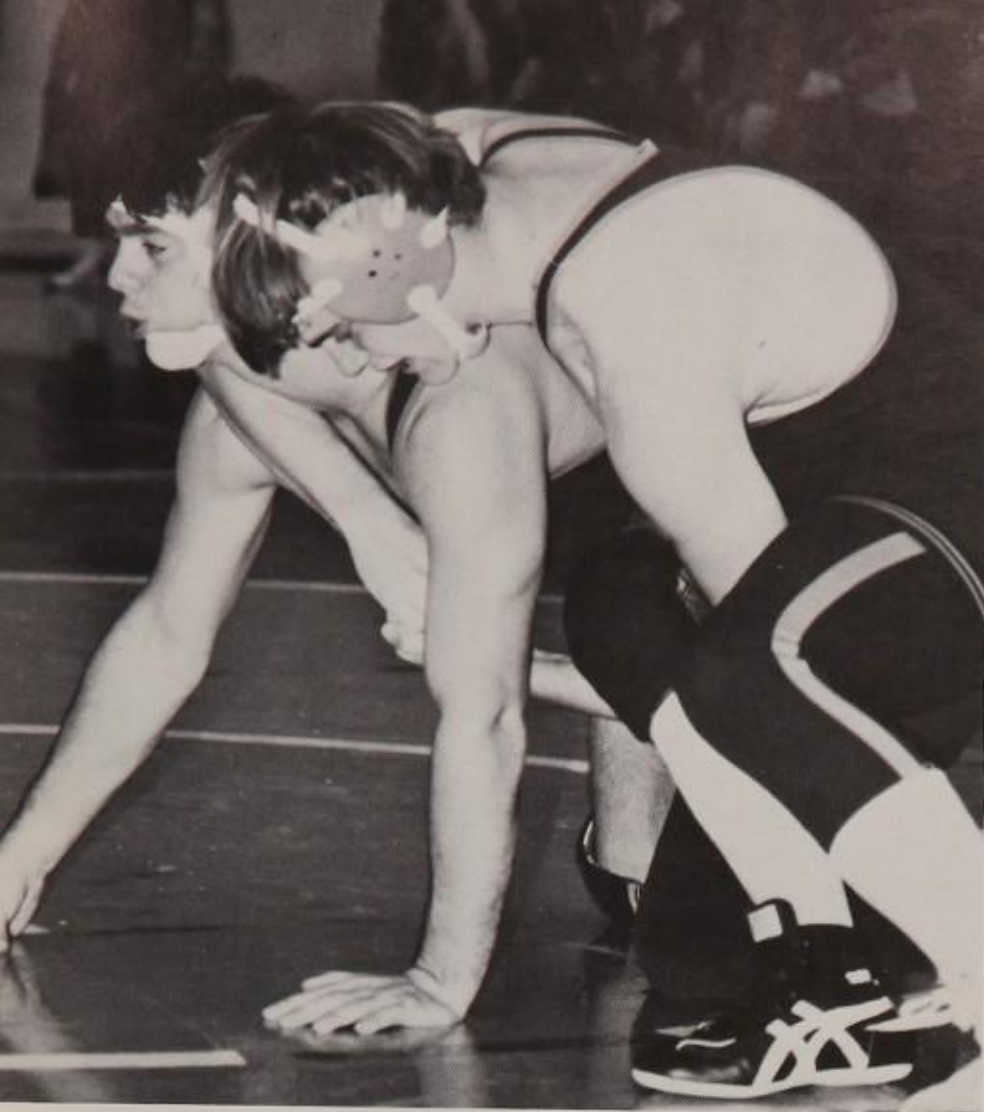

The 1980 fall season saw Dave Murphy Westwood's varsity wrestling coach working hard again. Following the results of the season, it appears that Coach Murphy is the man to turn the wrestling program around.

Composed of a dedicated group of individuals, the Warrior grapplers battled to a 5-5 record for the season. Chip Park was selected as Outstanding Wrestler for Westwood. Wrestling at 98 pounds, he won the McClintock and Eastside Invitionals; finished second in the Central Division Tournament, and ended the season with a 21-1 individual record. Marcus Lopez and Chris Hansen also had successful seasons, each winning their respective divisions in the McClintock Invitionals, and compiling winning records. Other wrestlers making solid contributions to the team were: Jay Baily, Robert Justus, Don Pagan, and Tom Torrez.

Finishing fifth in the Central Division Tournament, the Westwood wrestling team represented the school well in competition. Under the direction of a well-reported coach such as Dave Murphy, the future of Westwood wrestling looks bright.

Girls Succeed With Team Effort

This year the Girls' Varsity Softball team proved to be the best that Westwood has ever had, compiling a record of 17-1 league and 19-3 state. They placed second in their division with a tough loss to McClintock. They qualified for state, but lost to Sunnyslope with a score of 2-1. First year coach Al Thomas said, "We won with team effort." The season went very well for the, with their best assets in fielding and in pitching. With this they are looking forward to another successful season next year.

Coach Barb Anderes of the Girl's Junior Varsity Softball Team had a learning season for both her and the team. They ended up their season with a 8-6-1 record. Outstanding players for the future varsity are Rhonda Hodges, Earlene Revel, Ingrid McTaggart, Vicki Rekkas, and Joanne Quintaneres. You can bet that they will have a great season the following year.

DECA Students Begin Building New Horizons

By annually selling such items as candles, candy, solar pens, and Christmas cards, the DECA organization has created a wave of curiosity.

In order to shed light on any false speculations, it shall be stated herein that all proceeds from selling assorted goods were used honorably and legally. Instead of betting on horses, the legal tender covered the bill that resulted from sending approximately ninety students to the Distributive Education Clubs of America Arizona State Convention.

In preparation for this event, the group's sponsor, Mr. Randall Mertz, began molding incentive and a sense of achievement in students early in the year. The students had instilled within them the desire to become the finest DECA chapter in Arizona. They studied and practiced diligently various sale and interview techniques and public relations.

Many students felt strong approval for the program and that it was an invaluable learning experience. Encouraged by their knowledge, they will undoubtedly strive forward to build a bigger and more refined world in which to spend their existence.

To observe their skills firsthand, D.E. members gathered together and held a slave auction and produced a highly successful fashion show.

Joyful Sounds Awaken Spirit Among Singers

Music, entertainment, and excitement are three words which best exemplified what the music department was all about this last year. Choir after choir entered the choral room five days a week where they were greeted by Mr. Jeff Harris, the choir director, who instilled in them the desire to perform.

Each year the Honor choir displays its talent for various civic and social groups in the Valley. Lengthy and complex practices have paid off as the musical group developed a reputable mark as a talented pop music outfit. They not only sang pop, but jazz and spirituals as well. Throughout the year the group conducted fund raisers to help pay expenses for a tour which was taken in early spring.

Concert choir is well known for their traditional Canticule in Carols, talent show, and Spring Sing. The choir consists of several juniors and seniors and is the largest singing group at Westwood.

Warrior Band Famous; Members Become Stars!

The 1980-81 Westwood Marching Band proved again to be one of the best in the state. At the annual A.S.U. Band Day, Westwood received three superior ratings, placing them in the top ten for the second year in a row.

Because of their superiority last year, Westwood was chosen to march in the annual Fiesta Bowl Parade, which was regionally televised and seen by viewers as far east as Nebraska and Missouri.

Westwood was also asked by General Motors to perform for sales managers when three 1982 cars were introduced at the Arizona Testing Grounds. In return, G.M. donated a video-tape system to the band.

In addition to these special honors, the marching band provided spirit at pep assemblies and performed the halftime shows at all the home football games. When football was over, basketball games and formal concerts were in order for the varsity band.

Apache Band Is Super!

Fielding the largest band in the last five years, the Apache Band, under the direction of Mr. Bob Cunningham, was forced to schedule more concerts to make certain the public heard enough of the band and enjoy its great sound. "This years band was so much larger and better sounding than bands in the past, it made it so I had an opportunity to schedule more concerts," said Mr. Cunningham (B.C. as he is know to his students).

If the members chose to do so they participated in the Warrior Marching Band. They enjoyed working with the more prestigious band. When the year came to an end, auditions were held for the Warrior Band. To many members, Apache Band was a stepping stone to building the skills for the advanced band. Most of the Apache Band members tried out for Warrior Band and felt all the hard work paid off in the end.

Honorable Orchestra Extremely Outstanding

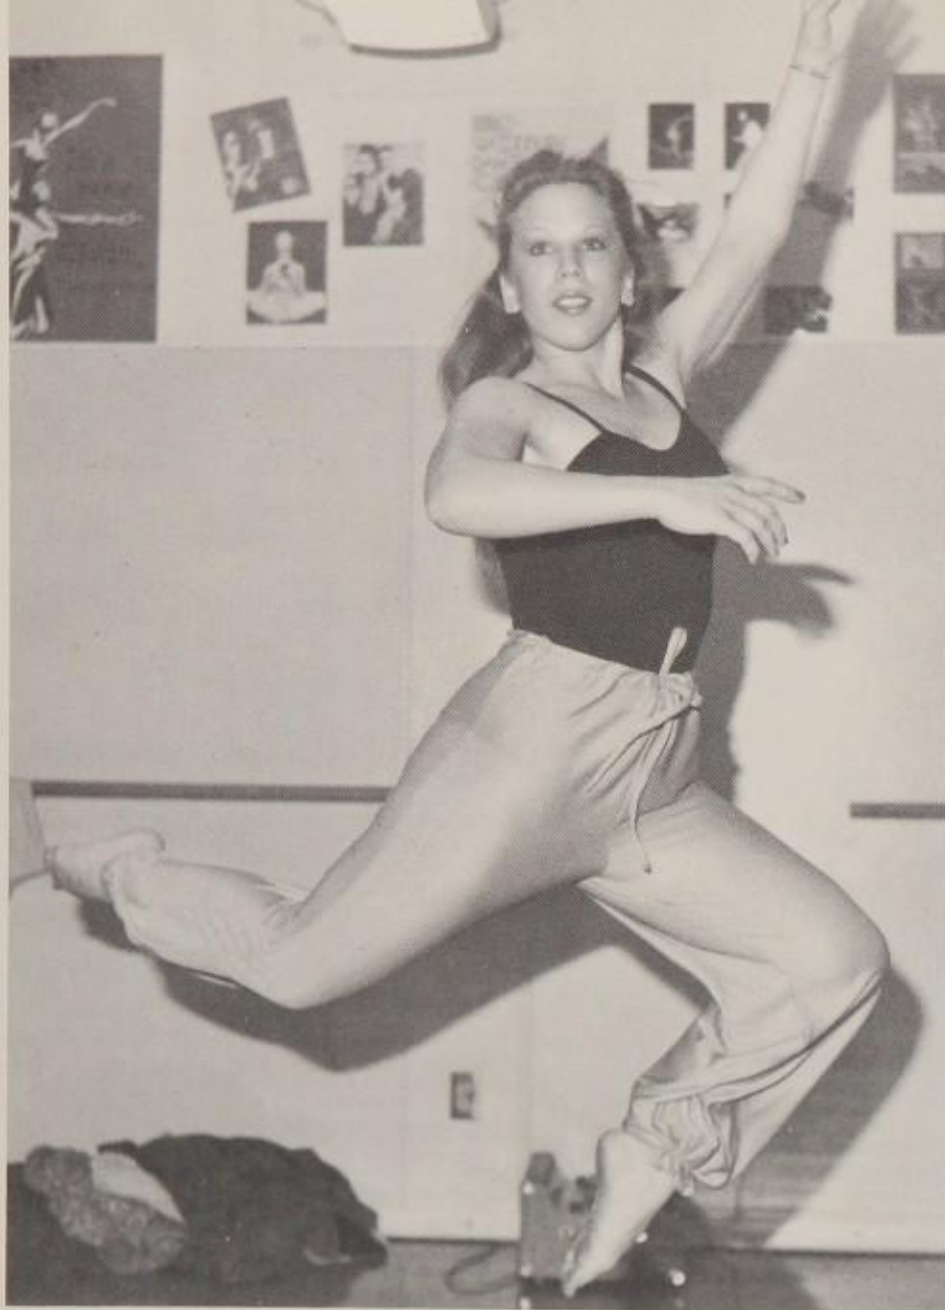

The Westwood Symphony Orchestra is the best high school orchestra in the state of Arizona, and very few schools would dare question that. They have proved that again and again by earning superior ratings in every music festival they attend, and this year was no exception.

Aside from participating in large-group festivals, orchestra members participated on an individual basis in the Arizona Regional-All-State Festival and Solo/Ensemble Festival. As usual, Westwood had the highest percentage of people placed in Regional Orchestra and scored superior ratings in Solo/Ensemble Festival.

In order to do so well orchestra members put in long hard hours of practice. But they still managed to find time for fund raising drives and parties. Several guest musicians entertained the orchestra, such as the Northern Arizona University Quartet, and guest violinist Daniel Mason.

Dancers Are Dedicated Devoted Work Pays Off

Dance Production is a performing art which takes considerably long hours of strenuous work and dedication. "We feel that we have just as much to show as any other performing group", commented Kandee Winn. Endurance is considered one of the many virtues of a dancer. Each girl leaves the rehearsal room with just more than a fatigued body, but also by being mentally exhausted. There is much to be said of the sore-footed performer who comes back day after day in demanding practice, according to Dance Production members.

Dance Production is lead by President Marie Lemme, assisted by Vice-President Kandee Winn and Lisa Malone, Treasurer. The instructor, Mrs. Zarkou, spends time with each dancer in developing dance routines and techniques. Not only does she spend many hours in class work, she also spends her recreation time with dance oriented projects.

Dance Production is becoming a more respected performing art shown through their outstanding performance on stage. Guys have also developed a growing interest in this art as well. Males add a special touch not created by the female dancers. In the last few years, dance assemblies have become a favorite of the entire student body!

Jazz Band Entertains; Makes Wonderful Music

The Music Department kept its fine standards of excellence this year as the Jazz Band did their usual outstanding job.

This select group, under the direction of Bob Cunningham, proved to be one of the finest high school Jazz Bands in the state. Aside from their many performances for civic groups, they attended the NAU Jazz Festival. They also represented Westwood at the MCC Jazz Clinic and the State Jazz Festival.

The Showcase Strings lived up to their reputation as the finest and most respected string performing group in the state. This select group of twenty talented musicians were kept busy performing at places like the Arizona Biltmore, Hyatt Regency, and the Registry Resort, as well as trailer parks, elementary schools, and regular concerts with the symphony orchestra.

Both these groups represent the finest talent Westwood has to offer, and brought a variety of good music to Westwood and the community during 1980-81.

New Clubs Appear At Westwood Rodeo And Indian Club Active

New ideas combined with old knowledge and traditions, brought about two new clubs this past year for Westwood. They are the active Rodeo club and the talented Indian club.

The Rodeo club emerged from a very little club to a competitive group of students. The president of the newly founded club, Bill Speece, worked with the members preparing them for the rodeos that they had participated in.

Their competition was from other high schools around the valley. They received honors and rewards such as rodeo belt buckles for their hard work.

The other first year club, the Indian club, was equally active. It sponsored the cultural show that appeared at Westwood. During March, the club, combined with all of Mesa's Indian clubs, presented their traditional dances and language to the students. Directed by Eleanor "Ellie" Ucci, the club invited the Miss Native American Indian to visit last March 16-18. The president of the club was Kathy Johnson, the secretary; Darden Thomas, and the treasurer was Julie Thomas.

Stage Crew Lights Up; Most Girls Ever

Strains of pounding hammers echoed throughout Shepherd Auditorium. One might have assumed a construction crew was remodeling or repairing the stage. However, surprises never cease to happen, for these sounds accompanied the Stage Crew, who at that time were assembling the set for the fall production of "Bell, Book, and Candle."

Other duties of the crew included handling of curtains and sound and light systems for assemblies, plays, concerts, and outside activities such as events held in the gymnasium and on Brimhall Field.

Sponsor Mr. Jones, and manager Gary Van Luchene, kept all members performing their share of the duties. Reportedly, mistakes were rare, but very noticeable.

In past years, Stage Crew did not seem to appeal to female students. However, this year, four girls, the largest number of girls ever, joined the increasingly popular Stage Crew.

A Headstart For Seniors

A high school graduate may find himself in much the same predicament as a sophomore looking for hall five. He may wonder "Where do I go now?" The answering to this question was the goal of several clubs at Westwood during the past school year. Among these were VICA, HERO, and JAG.

Vocational Industrial Clubs of America and Home Economic Related Occupations were closely related in their areas of procedures. Both worked under the co-op program, which meant senior participants could work on the job in an area of career interest during school hours while gaining credit. Members of HERO and VICA were chosen through applications, interviews, and job openings in their specific occupational areas.

In addition to being similar in member selection, VICA and HERO were engaged throughout the year in service to the community. VICA chose a family to fellowship during the Christmas season. Enjoyment was combined with service when HERO students sponsored a skate-a-thon to benefit cerebral palsy patients.

Just as HERO and VICA selected seniors who basically knew the floorplans of their future, Jobs For Arizona Graduates, on the other hand, accepted students who were unsure about a particular field. JAG also provided its members with activities and service events. One of the service projects they undertook was their visit to Golden Mesa at Christmas time, when they took cookies and Christmas cheer to some elderly folks of Mesa.

All three organizations combined fun and service with the teaching of needed techniques to secure and keep a job, and strived to help Westwood graduates make a smooth transition from high school jocks to the real working world.

C.O.E. Does A O.K.; Gives Service To Public

Cooperative Office Education (C.O.E.) was a program designed for seniors who went to school half a day and spent the remaining half a day working at an office related job. If the required 15 hour work week was accomplished, the student received three credits for the course.

Not only did the students maintain a job combined with a school schedule, they also participated in many service projects. Among them were sponsoring a family for Christmas. Holding a Banquet for their employers, a canned food drive, they also manned the concession stands during the home football games.

C.O.E. had two sets of officers this year because of their two classes. Presiding officers were: president, Bob Woods, Vice Presidents, Linda McKinney, Karolyn Kiburz. Secretaries, Sheri Carnes, Becky Burr. Recording Secretaries, Laurie Coon, Brenda Epp. Treasurers, Janet Willis, Sharon Whitener. Recorder, Renee Deering, Darlene Warner. Deadlines Never Cease But Staffs Met Goals

The publication staff, that fabled organization dedicated to sophistication and quality, was again in 1980-1981 a pillar of dedication. Mired with countless deadlines on newspaper stories and yearbook layouts, the staff managed to produce outstanding tabloids and a truly incomparable yearbook.

The War Chant, the highly acclaimed school newspaper, was under the leadership of Jeane Welch and the dictatorship of Graeme Sellers. Fearless reporters Danny Shearer and Mary Lowry were always throwing caution to the wind with in depth stories on pregnancy, the Cancer Corner, the PLAIDS, and countless other controversial subjects.

The Chieftain, Westwood's phenominal yearbook, relied on the efforts of four co-editors. Evan Blandford, Lisa Clark, Kris Mrotek, and Sharon Skalbeck were the much feared four-some that astutely directed operations. Invaluable staffers combined with these editors and advisor John Donovan to produce what was called by yearbook expert Melvin Parfeit to be "... a work of art ..."

Members of the publication staff of 1981 were able to accomplish one major goal; to produce publications of consistently good quality that the students of Westwood could enjoy and be proud of. They personify indeed the true spirit of the Westwood Warriors.

Clubs Become Popular; Participation Rises

Student involvement and large membership were factors that lead the French club to its success this year, according to Katie Petrie, club member. The activities that kept the club active included a Halloween-Masquerade party, a lawn float for the Unity Dance, skits for senior citizen homes, a Christmas banquet, and participating in the canned food and toy drive. Officers of the French club were Debbie Wilson, president; Stacey Davis, vice president; Karen McCormick, treasurer; and Kim McKenna, secretary. Mrs. Francis Norman was a very dedicated sponsor.

Like the French club, the German club was kept alive by participating in several activities. These activities included making signs, selling pretzels, roller skating, and making a lawn float for the Unity Dance. The officers for the German Club were Kris Barbieri, president; Kathy Wisz, vice-president; Ester Werhan, treasurer; and Kelly Morgan, secretary. Mrs. Petra Bailey was also a dedicated sponsor.

Farmers From Westwood Make 80-81 Their Best

The Westwood chapter of the Future Farmers of America once again proved themselves to be the top club on campus this year.

The school year for these dedicated students began in early summer with a series of leadership workshops on the district and state levels. The Westwood agriculture students were also in a number of competitions throughout the year. On November 9th, nine people from Westwood, including principal James Sturdevant, traveled to Kansas City, Missouri for the FFA National Convention. Here the students picked up a gold award in the poultry division for their 5th place finish in the nation as well as a silver award in the meats judging for an 8th place finish. Over 22,000 people throughout the United States attended the convention.

Other activities sponsored by FFA were the Christmas canned food drive in which over 3000 cans were collected. Also numerous BBQ's were held attracting over 600 guests per dinner. To raise funds for much needed equipment the students sold poinsettias, staged woodcuts, and sold hay to the public. As a special service to the community, the students held a River clean-up project in August.

Ebony Finds Culture; Computers Computated

"Creating a computer program that is successful would be like scoring the winning touchdown in an important football game," said Computer Club President John Webster.

The Computer Club was designed to help the beginner learn more about computers and how they work. Experienced club members worked on their own personal computer programs.

The organization also created a computer matching service to help students find a compatible date.

Traditionally, the Ebony Club celebrates Kwanzaa, an Afro-american holiday. Celebrants gathered to exchange gifts. These gifts were usually craft projects created by the participants. "Keeping in mind of the Kwanzaa theme, gifts are usually little things such as hand made pottery, knitted items, and baked goods," stated club sponsor Teri Mathews.

Copy machine purring, television sets and tape decks blasting, teachers rushing in with last minute dittos and transparencies forgotten during the excitement of the latest video tape. This is all part of AV.

The people in AV put in many hours to insure the fine quality of services and materials used by the faculty, staff, and students of Westwood.

When Mr. Larson said "We do it all for you," he knew what he was talking about.

Some members of the group had been in AV for up to 3 years and really enjoy their work. Mike Allred, who had three periods of AV said, "I couldn't make it through the day without A.V."

According to Mrs. Allred, "The youngsters really took pride in what they did."

"PURGATORY" a place or state of tempory punishment", states Webster's Collegiate Dictionary. This proved true for Westwood's Ski Club when they journeyed to Durango, Colorado's ski resort. The students received their share of bumps and bruises from numerous spills as they made their way down the challenging snowcovered runs.

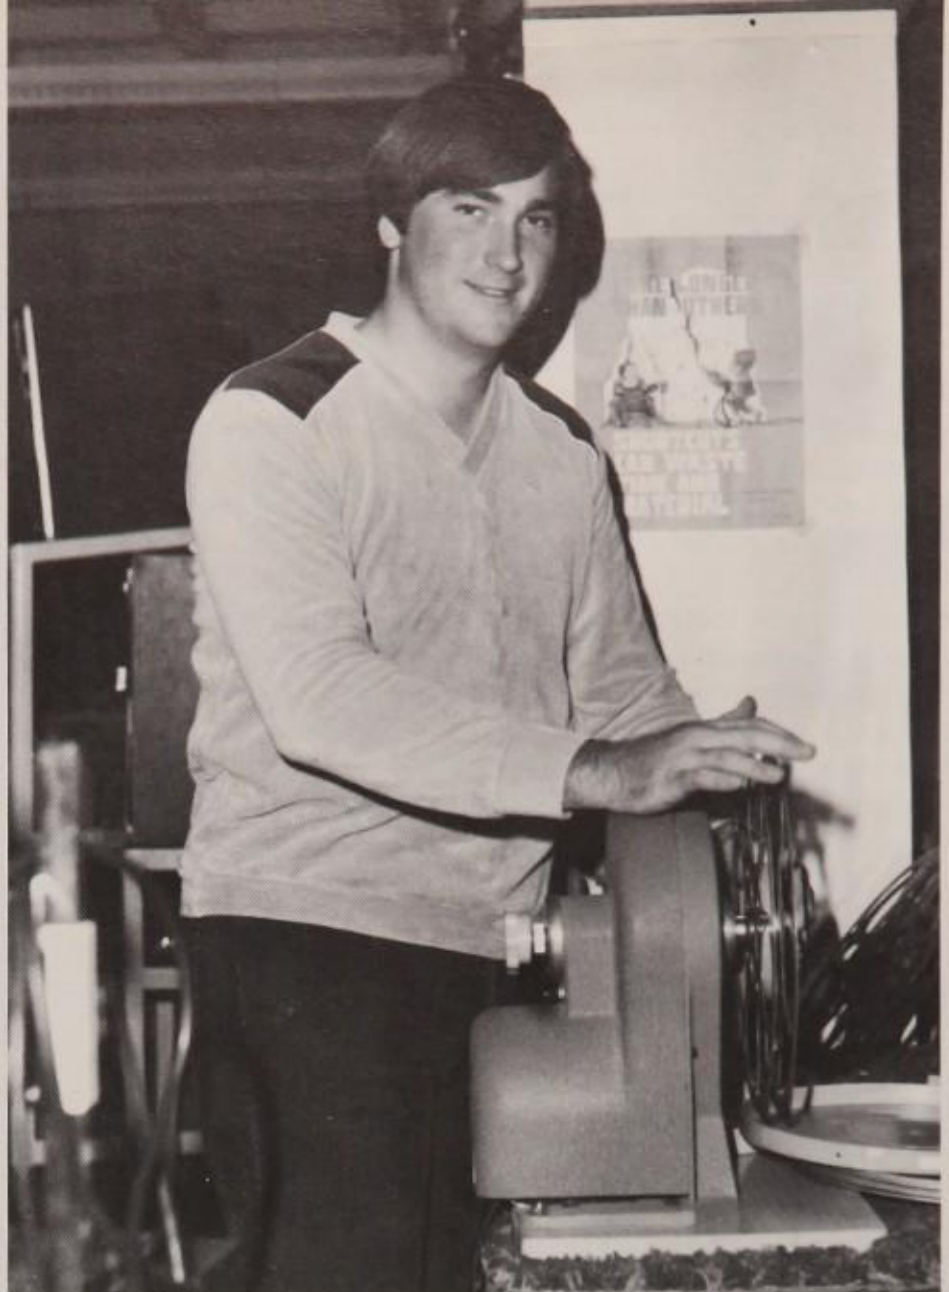

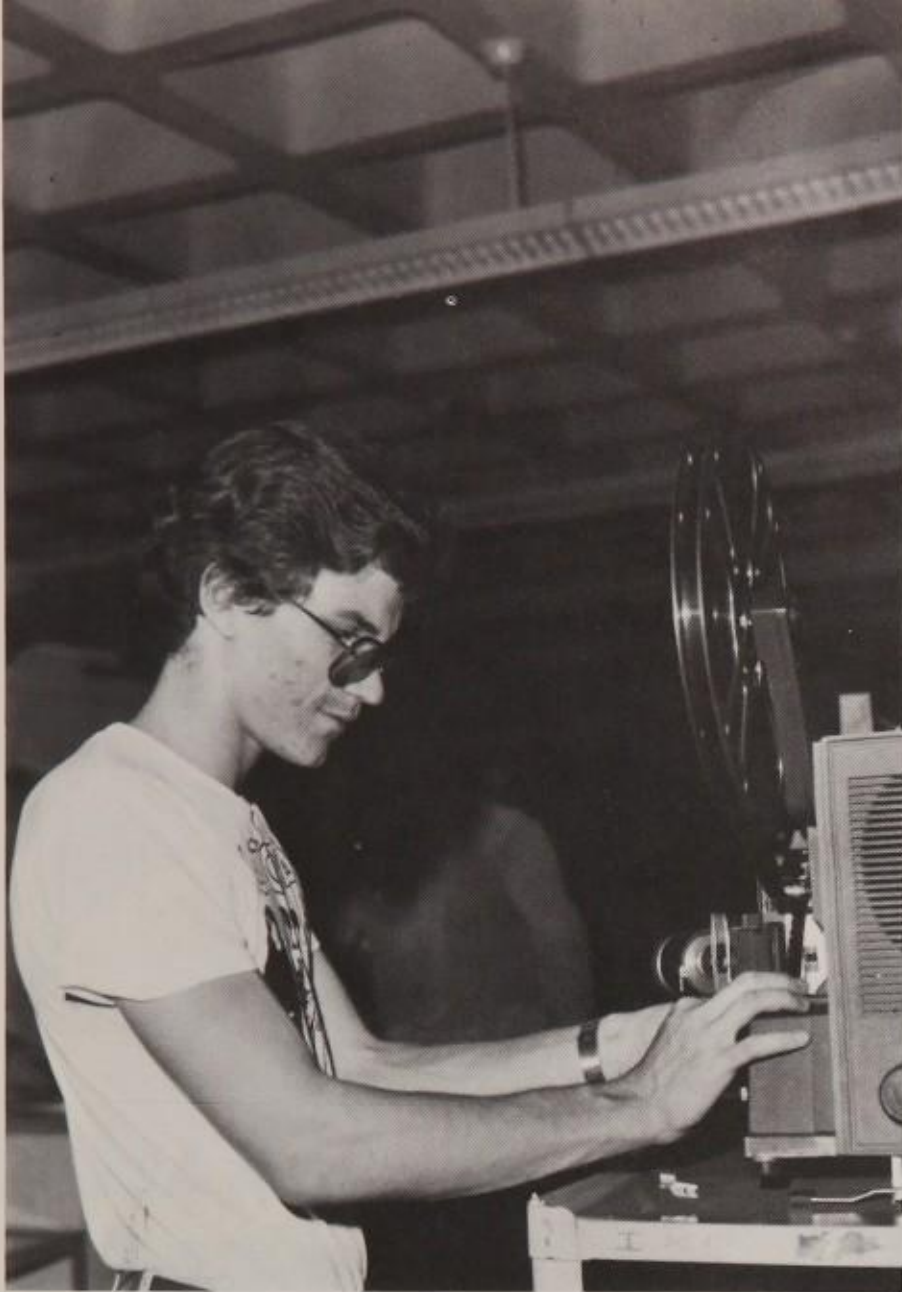

The combination of Westwood and Mountain View ski clubs made this year's trip the biggest ever. President Tracy King said, "I was very pleased with the trip and the conduct shown by the students who made the trip."

Ned Jolly was the sponsor again this year and did a super job. His relationship with the club members helped the club spirit.

Coach Jolly truly enjoys working with the ski club members, going on trips with them and watching the skiers abilities develop into top-notch athletic competitors.

Drama Pupils Display Talents To Community

Under the direction of sponsor Jay Dean Jones, this year's Masque and Dagger club has provided an outlet for many aspiring actors and actresses. Auditions for membership were held during Thai Chewee week. The membership totals approximately thirty-three students.

The club participated in various activities both school-oriented and community projects. During the Christmas season, they participated in the canned food and toy drive. They also gave performances for mentally handicapped children. This year the club brought back one of its favorite activities — the disaster drill. Club members traveled to Mesa General Hospital with fake cuts and bruises to experience a psuedo-crisis.

Executive officers of the club were Rob Jarvis, president; and Marie Lemme, vice-president. Their duties included managing meetings as well as organizing activities.

Clubs Provide Service To School & Community

National Honor Society wanted to stress the importance of their organization. Along with having to maintain an accumulative grade point average of 1.5 or better, they must show that they have a deserving character, leadership abilities, and must participate in many service projects.

A service project performed each month by National Honor Society was a party given to the mentally and physically handicapped students at Parkway school. These parties were very much appreciated by both Parkway and Westwood administration.

Many fund raising projects were performed to raise money so they could award scholarships. Mrs. Huffaker, the club sponsor, said, "Their main goal this year was to make more people aware of college".

Model United Nations consists of eight members. These eight members had to meet certain qualifications similar to those of National Honor. Mr. Young, the sponsor, went to several teachers to get recommendations.

On February sixth and seventh they took a trip to Tuscon to meet with other high schools from all over Arizona. Each school represented a different country. Westwood represented France. They all broke into different committees and discussed certain topics. They represented our school very well.

Council Spirit Takes On Ambitious Goals

Leadership, spirit, and hard work. These words could describe the 1980-81 Westwood Student council. This elite group of young Americans rarely receive ample recognition for the long and hard work they put in daily.

Class officers took charge of activities such as floats, lawn projects, Christmas halls, dances, class plays and class competition. Other student body officers handled civic and social events, assemblies and recreational activities. The council sponsor many events and sell concessions, but the largest project of the year was the first annual "Unity Dance" held in the gym. It was held to bring up the spirit between the classes and clubs. Clubs created lawn projects and decorated the gym for this dance held in November.

During the year council members also attended Leadership workshops and conventions to learn more about fund raising and leadership abilities. It proved beneficial for all for spirit escalated between classes.

Health Club Thrives; Field Trip Highlight

The Health Club, just another boring, do-nothing club on campus, right? Wrong. Highlighted by a field trip to St. Joseph's Hospital in Phoenix, the Health Club's agenda was more active than ever.

According to Ms. Ellie Ucci, the school nurse and coordinator of the Health Club, the trip was one of the best things that has happened in the history of the club. "It went real well," she said, "They, (the club) were real excited about it."

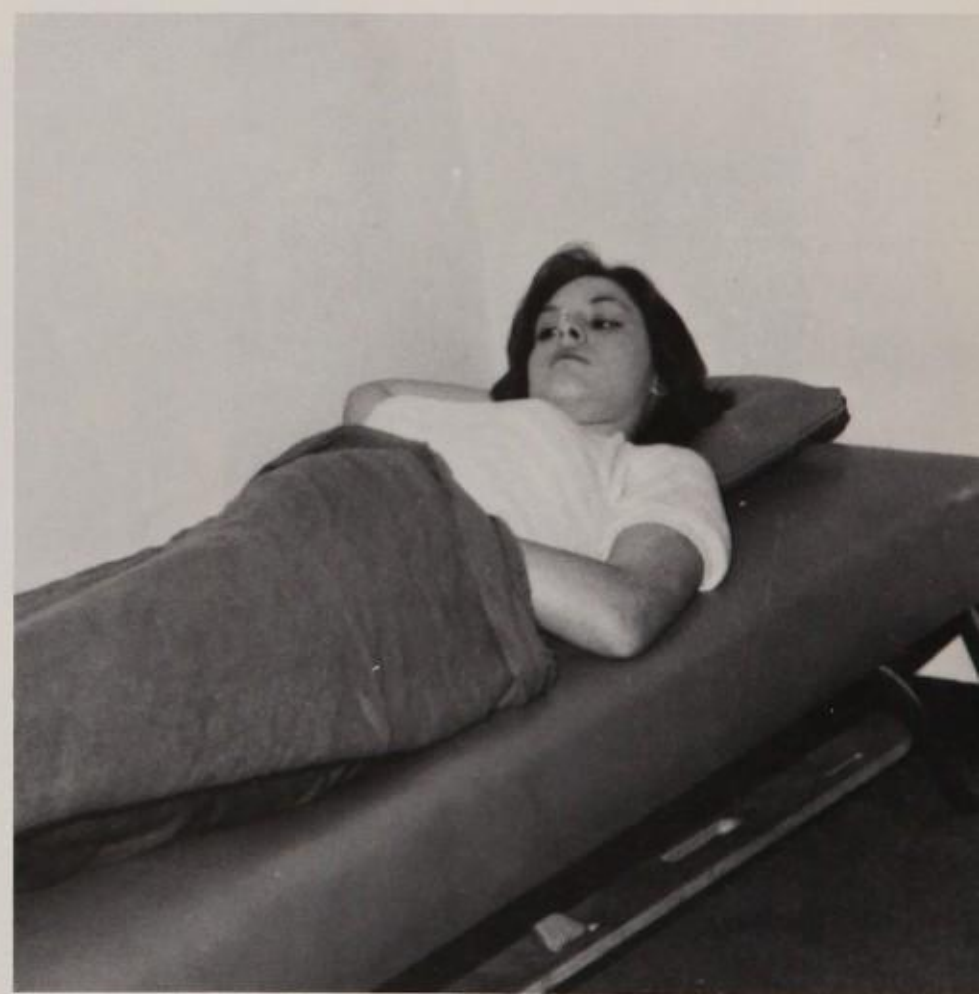

The field trip included tours of the hospital's surgery room, recovery room, intensive care unit, and the post-operative room. While touring one of the surgery rooms, the 'tourists' were masked and gowned. They were then allowed to witness an actual brain surgery in progress.

Even though the field trip was the highlight of the agenda, the club still accomplished a lot during the regular meetings, which occurred every other Wednesday.

"Enrollment was short this year, but this didn't affect the club much," Club member Nancy Rye stated, "Spirits are still high. The smaller group means you get to know the other members better and you get a more personalized program."

Westwood Gives Birth To New Chartered Club

Typing, shorthand, and accounting are skills found in most any large business, but they are also skills practiced by members of Westwood's newest club, Future Business Leaders of America, (FBLA).

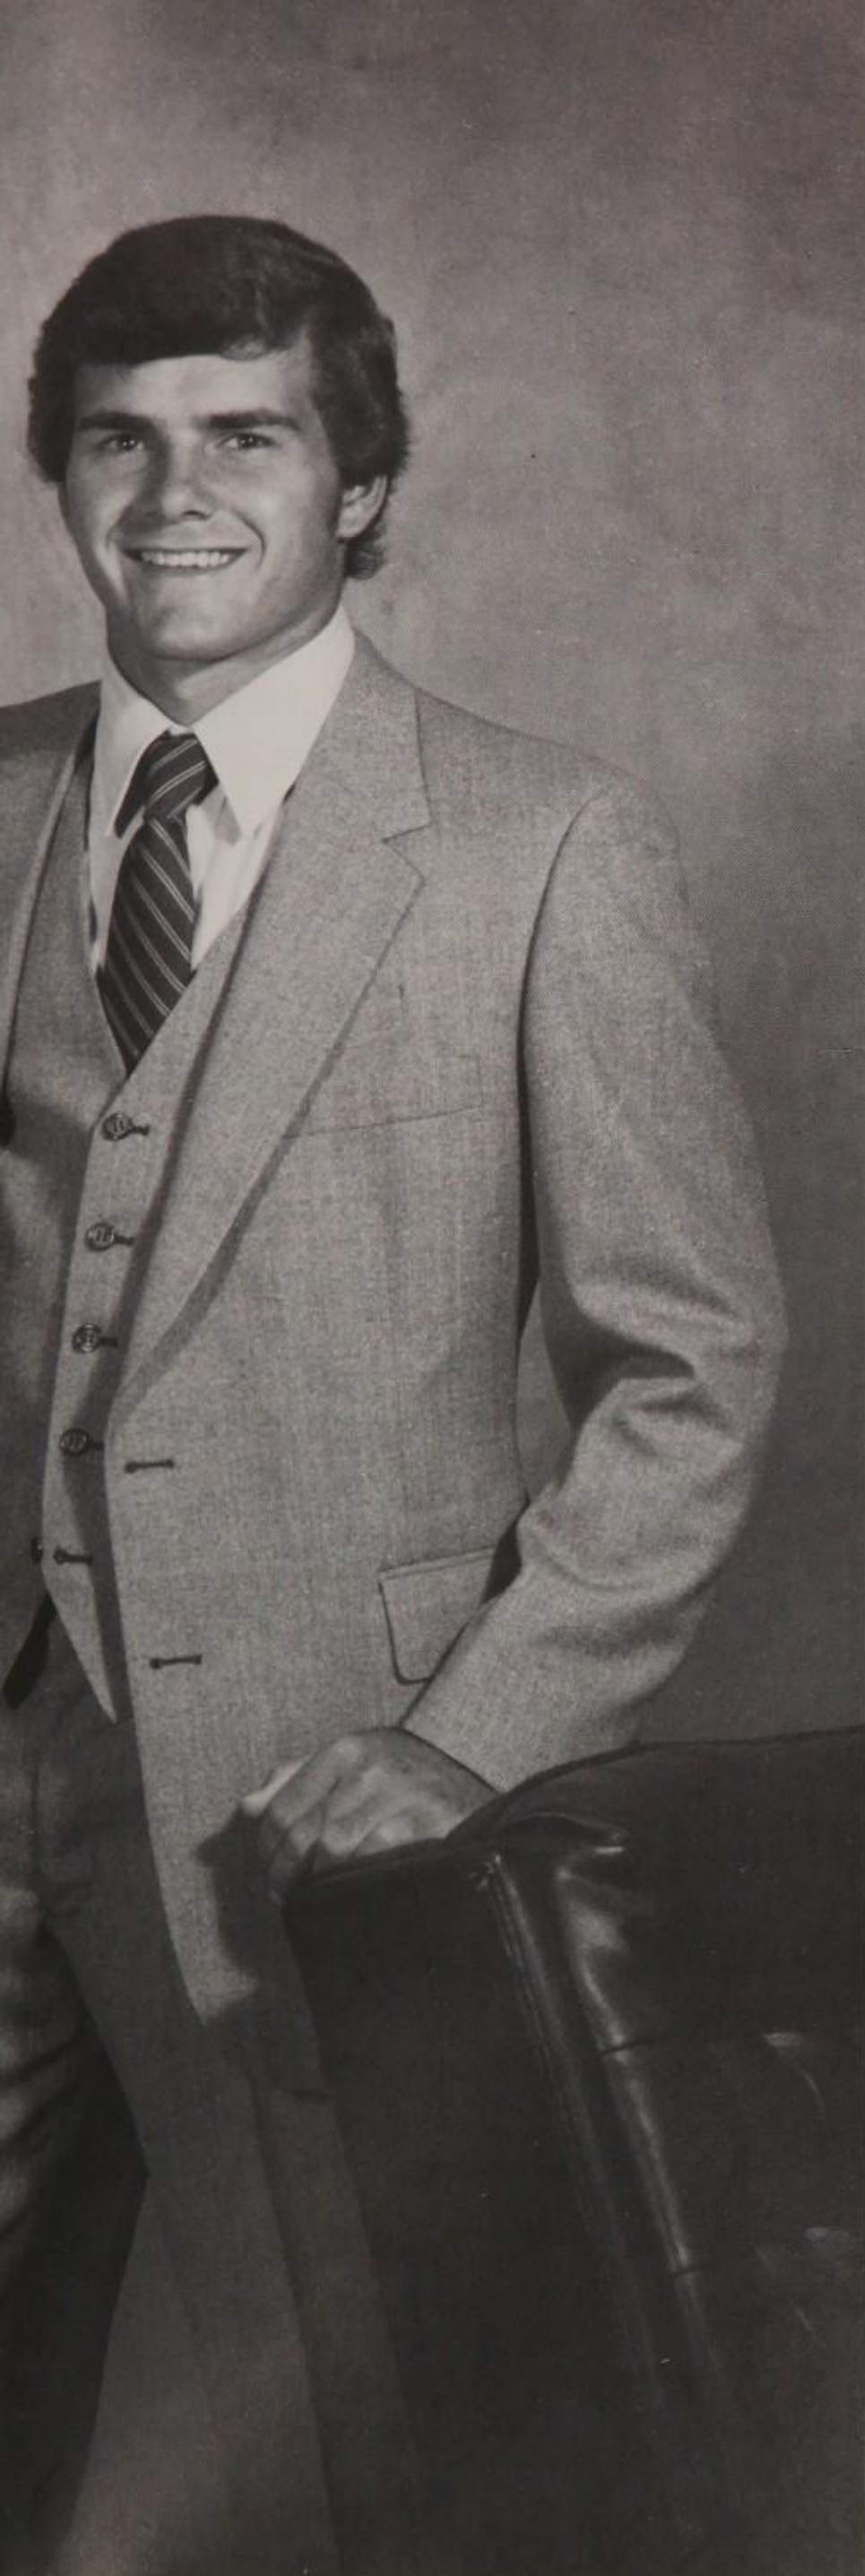

Students involved learned to develop skill, leadership, and quality in the business world by preparing for a regional conference where they competed with other Arizona students in areas such as shorthand, parliament, accounting, typing and public speaking.

Dodie Carr was president, and was in charge of meetings and activities. Vice-president Annette Wilde took over in her absence. Sheri Carnes, secretary, took minutes of the meetings, and parliamentarian Brian Pipes kept the meeting in formal order. Michelle Vancore, Club reporter, kept the club publicized throughout Westwood, and treasurer Mike Brown recorded club funds. Kelly Doan, their historian, kept a scrapbook of the year's events for FBLA.

Ms. Joann Vancore and Ms. Helen Ong were sponsors, and even though the club was small this year, they said it was the enthusiasm and not the quantity that counted.

*The Student.
He is called a dreamer,
An idealist, and unrealist.
But with him rides high
The ship of Hope.
The teacher.
He is labeled too practical,
Too perfunctory, too polished.
But his are the keys that open
The doors of Knowledge.
Together they discover each other.
There's nothing like it.*

District Expands With Dobson High Completed

This past year, the steady growth of the school district continued, not quite as rapidly as the previous year, but with an increase of 1,500 students, totaling 37,200 young people in the Mesa Public Schools.

One of the goals of the district this year was to update as many of the schools as possible. The opening of the new Dobson High School and Taylor Junior High School will highlight the new year in the fall of 1981.

Mr. David Eagleburger, the newly appointed Superintendent for Secondary Education, brought a lot of enthusiastic, positive input to the secondary schools.

Dennis Lambson served as president of the Board of Education and Dr. John Crandall was elected as President for the year 1981. Dr. Marion Peterson resigned to accept a position with the navy while Dennis Lambson did not run for a second term. Cordon Driggs and Marilyn Wilson are the two newly elected board members. (The Board And the Superintendency work diligently to maintain the constant reputation of the finest school district in the state.

Westwood Leaders Aid Teachers In Planning

Principal James Sturdevant in his first address to the students of Westwood admonished them to observe three requirements for success while in high school: You must be present in class, you must assume responsibility for your own success and you must accept the help and assistance available from parents and school staff. The administrators at Westwood are committed to helping students and helping teachers.

Mr. Casillas, Athletic director, is responsible for the sophomore class and he was very busy attempting to get the sophies started on the right foot. Mr. Storment, activities director, was kept busy with the juniors and supervising the many activities which the Westwood students are involved in. Mr. White carries all the responsibility of all registration, the senior class and all of the student details accompanying graduation.

The four administrators work tirelessly to assist the teachers accomplish the task of the education of young people, and rely heavily upon the assistance and expertise of their secretaries.

Counselors' Efforts Show Valued Dedication

The counselors are people whose importance is sometimes overlooked by many students. But without them many of us would have been lost and confused throughout the past year. These hard-working faculty members gave much time and effort to keep the school running smoothly.

You may think counselors are only needed for schedule changes, but think again. They were kept busy all year with college scholarship applications, test scores, and college entrance forms. The counselors willingly gave their time to assist any student who might have needed their services.

Another group of "helpers" are the secretaries. With a registration of more students than ever before, and a difficult attendance system, the secretaries pulled it all off efficiently.

Thanks to all of these dedicated people who care, Westwood remained one of the best schools around.

The Westwood agriculture department proved that they were more than cows and plows. According to a study published by the United States Office of Education, Westwood was the best in the state, and one of the top nine schools in the nation dealing with agriculture. They were very active this past year. Agriculture department activities included raising day old calves, cutting wood to sell for fund raising growing poinsettias for the Christmas sale, raising alfalfa, propagating plants, operating a green house, slaughtering animals, training animals, and landscaping.

In auto mechanics the students were taught the nomenclature, terminology and basic operation of all automotive systems. They learned these skills to apply to passenger cars, light trucks, motorcycles, and other automotive related machinery.

The business core department was designed to help students acquire an initial entry level job skill, so that students could survive in the business world. The classes were taught with individualized instruction so the students could progress at their own rate of speed. Brian Foster, a business teacher, observed, "Most students enter business classes on an experimental basis. Many students found they liked it, and stayed with it to help their careers."

English Used As A Tool

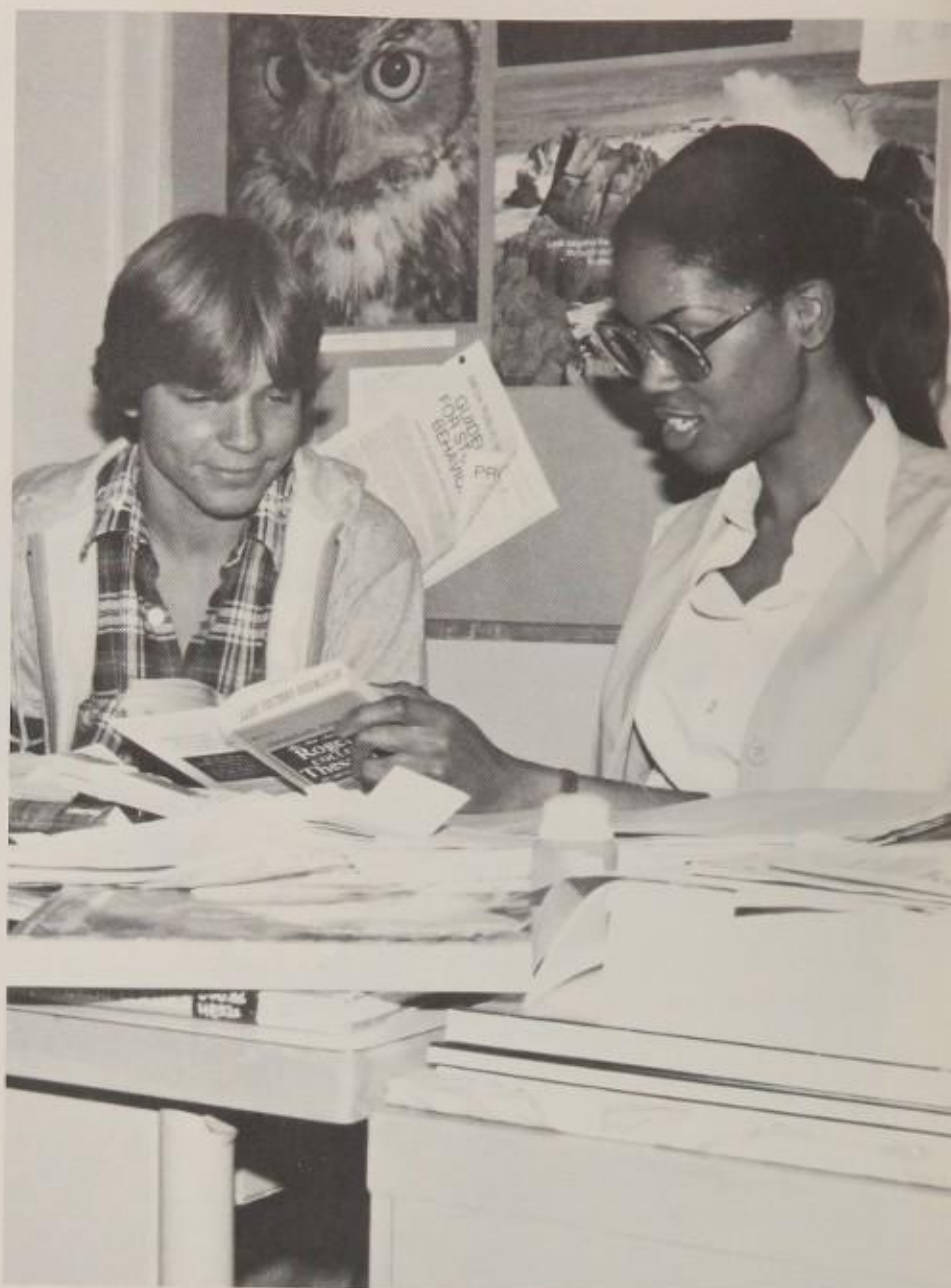

English is a very familiar subject to the students here at Westwood. Even if it is not a well liked subject, it helps us all to read, write, speak, listen, and above all, to think better.

There are English classes for everyone, from Grammer review to college prep programs. One program, the double A English class, is for students who are willing to give everything they have to work hard. It is a three year course and gives the students advanced work which challenges them to the best of their ability.

English is required for every student who wants to graduate. Three credits in the subject are required, but four credits are needed to attend many colleges. All it takes is a little effort, some hard work and soon all the years put in will pay off.

Home Ec & Industrial Arts

Preparing For The Future

Spoons were dipping and hammers were flying in the Home Ec and Industrial Arts Department this year. These two departments are very active during school hours. Whenever you happen to walk past one of their rooms you can always hear something going on.

In the Home Ec Department students, both male and female, are being taught many important things. You can learn everything from how to measure flour to how to set a table. Not only is there kitchen learning but also you can learn how to sew excellently.

Industrial Arts Department is adding also to student learning by teaching many worthwhile things. In one class you can learn how to fix an engine, while in another you can learn how to build a table.

Westwood Honors Hostages; Foreign Languages Popular

The Advanced Placement History Class, Free Enterprise, and many other classes held mock elections with Ronald Reagan victorious in Westwood's elections just as he was in the national election in November.

Aside from the election, the college prep government classes organized a tribute to the 52 Americans held hostage in Iran for more than a year. "The students who carried flags and gave speeches at the football game made for a solemn and memorable halftime show," remarked one Westwood student.

Mexico Ole! The Spanish students really did themselves proud when they arranged for a bus load of Mexican students to board a school bus and travel hundreds of bumpy miles to spend a few days here in the United States. For the most, it was their first trip into "Big Mac Land," and it proved to be an exciting experience.

The French and German classes seem to be on the rise. More and more students are involved with a foreign language. As one walks by a group of students, an occasional "Bonjour" or "Vie Gehts" is heard. Both classes competed in the annual foreign language contest in the spring and both did outstandingly well.

Weight lifting has been increasing in popularity. The girls are showing a bit interest in developing and maintaining a sound body. The boys, however, take weight lifting to improve their strength and appearance. The class is for the athlete as well as the average P.E. student.

Heading up the boys P.E. department was Ned Jolly. The girls came under the direction of Yollie Munoz. She said "PE students had a very successful and rewarding year."

The Greatest Arts- Visual And Performing

Visual Arts was a program designed to help students become more visually aware of what is around them. Students enrolled in the course learned line quality, light and shadow design, and art critique. Mr. Duane Binnie was the head of this department.

Mr. Jay Dean Jones, head of the drama department, was in charge of all performing arts activities. Students learned to pantomime, sight-read, and act in a performing situation. They also learned to critique movies, plays, and television shows. Most students felt the course helped them relate to people their own age better.

Mr. Jeff Harris was the director of the chorus department this year. This included Honor Choir, Girls' Chorus, Singing Warriors, and Sophomore mixed. The students learned sight-reading, voice-training, and singing in harmony parts.

Mr. Bob Cunningham was in charge of Warrior Band, which is the varsity marching band, Apache Band, and the jazz band. Mr. William Engelsman was in charge of both orchestras and Showcase Strings.

Calculate With Math Experiment With Science

Since math credits are necessary for graduation there are a wide variety of classes offered. They range from general math to calculus. The majority of students take algebra and geometry. For college bound students a minimum of two major math credits are required, although only one is needed to attend a community college. Westwood has twelve teachers involved in the math department this year, some of whom also work in the P. E. Department. They include Mrs. Elizabeth McFadden, Girls J.V. Volleyball coach; Miss Diane Ensing, Girls Swimming coach; Mr. Ron Cole, Boys Soccer coach; Mr. Paul Newendyke, Boys J.V. Basketball coach. Mr. Richard Impson, Boys Gymnastic coach, and Mr. Erv Reid, Boys Golf coach

Many science courses are also available to Westwood students. Dissecting frogs, inventing new chemical formulas, and learning the various parts of different plants are all part of the science curriculum. Each student is taught the use of microscopes, bunsen burners, and various other lab equipment. Physics, chemistry, biology, botany, earth science, and genetics are all taught in the science department at Westwood.

Math and science courses are needed in many careers, including all fields of medicine and engineering.

New Program For Deaf

A new facet was added to Westwood's special services this year when the school offered a Total Communication Program. This Program benefited hearing impaired students by improving their communication, special skills, and preparing them for mainstreaming into regular classroom work.

Cindy Demarest, teacher of the hearing impaired, said she teaches her students with signing and speech. She also stated that most of her students can read lips, but she still signs as she talks. Miss Demarest teaches spelling, language, math, science, and English to her students, who are in her class all day except for physical education, art, and lunch.

The often forgotten custodians at Westwood did a good job in keeping our school clean and fit for fine teaching. They did everything from changing burnt out lights and vacuuming rooms to spraying off picnic tables.

SPECIAL SERVICES

The term "Special Services" encompasses many areas that are not included in the regular departments. Special people perform special tasks that make the lives of students more comfortable.

Some of these people could be found jetting around campus in golf carts. The Westwood security team of Big Al, George, and Donna could always be depended upon to help Westwood retain its atmosphere of tranquility. Always helpful, the popular trio did an outstanding job of balancing friendship and discipline.

Westwood's superior library facilities and knowledgeable librarians made it possible for students to do research papers, write reports, or just provide a quiet place to study.

Other special people, like the devoted ladies in the cafeteria, kept many a famished student satisfied with enjoyable hot meals.

Andre Messali, caretaker of the school bookstore, kept a constant supply of necessary materials and did a miraculous job of organizing and filing underclass pictures.

Chieftain Staff Honors Perkins And Gates.

Mrs. Ruthe Perkins welcomed those first freshmen and sophomores into Westwood that first year, 1962 ... the registration office was located in the "A" Building, which was the only building completed at the time the school opened. Then, as now, Mrs. Perkins, main concern was for the welfare of the students. Many of the Westwood graduates feel as though she was one of the best friends they had while attending high school, because they knew that while she was "bird dogging" them to get to class, to stay in class, it was with love and caring for their welfare and very often it was this persistence that kept them in school. We will all miss Mrs. Perkins.

Mr. Dave Gates, fondly known as MR. WESTWOOD, by all of his peers, was one of the first to be chosen as a coach at the new high school. He and his good buddy, Mutt Ford started planning for these freshmen and sophomores six months before the doors opened in 1962.....they fought hard for the school colors of Blue and Orange, and they were instrumental in naming our mascot.. the mighty WARRIORS. No one has worked harder than Coach Gates for the obvious success of this great school . . . he put all of his enthusiasm, talent and love into his work each day, and the results were fantastic. We will miss you Coach Gates..the originator of our own WAR EAGLE.

Spirited Junior Fans Display True Support

Juniors Spirit And Enthusiasm Is Exerted

I have been a foreign language student at Westwood for three years. This year I am taking third year French and first year Spanish. With this background, I am interested in a career pertaining to travel.

I feel that foreign language courses are essential in school, and all students should learn at least one language other than English. Last summer I participated in a trip throughout Europe, which made me realize the importance of learning other languages. The students in all the countries I visited had studied, and could speak, at least one foreign language.

Coming in contact with these different countries, customs, cultures, and languages has impelled me to learn as much about language as I can.

Westwood Spirited Seniors Present Spectacular Talents

Performing Arts is one of Westwood's programs which is really known around the state of Arizona. I personally enjoy the Dramatic Arts, and have for many years. It will be my course of study when I get to college. I hope to attend the Julliard School of Acting in New York, and the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in California.

My major interest is the usage of pantomime. Mime has been used since the early Greeks and has been handed down for many years. The profession of mime is a rewarding experience. It teaches me different feelings of different people, times, and places. It also makes me forget all of my problems, and it just puts me in a suspended world, with nothing to do but mime.

I have been acting in Drama at Westwood for two and one half years and will never change my feelings towards it. Everyone has a dream, and my dream is acting. I hope it will come true.

Diligent Effort Pays Off

In Warriorettes, you are classified into a group with nothing more in common than a desire to perform. If you are interested in the 'goings-on' of Warriorettes, I shall attempt a summary of this subject.

Pretend you go through the tryout procedure and make it. At least half of the following summer will be spent participating in Warriorette activities. If you are lucky enough to be a captain as Leslie Cole, Trisha Gadberry, Sheryl Lobb, and I, it will be most of your summer. Also, consider your school day, with dancing at least three times a week, and marching band practices. There are also home practices, and choreographing of dances.

Why, might you ask, would any sane person put herself through all the pain, exhaustion, sweat, and frustration of Warriorettes? I participate because it is fun. To be able to withstand all the hard work, you must enjoy what you are doing. I learn much from Warriorettes, including friendship, self-discipline, and how to get along with others.

A Co-Editor Lays It On!

As a member of the Westwood publications staff for just three short years, I have come to know several people without whom the yearbook could never have been completed. A select few of this group really did nothing for the actual book, but they added character and spice to an otherwise "average" staff. They gave everyone the strength to finish without discouragement and resentment towards other staff members.

And then there were those who did nothing but work to produce the book. It was a thankless job and they knew it would be so, but still they continued to work.

Few people realize what goes into creating a book that has to please everybody. People complain about why they didn't appear on certain pages. Parents phone our advisor, John Donovan, and wonder why so-and-so wasn't on such-and-such a page.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all people who gave me the chance to be on staff, because it was a very enjoyable experience, I can assure you.

Debate Is Awesome

Debate is the presentation of documented, timed arguments on issues of national and international importance. Sounds boring? Well, it's not. It takes many months of learning through experience.

As a sophomore, debating was the farthest thing from my mind. The reason for my taking the class was simple; I needed to fill my schedule. I was taught a little what to do, and was sent to my first tournament which ended in disaster, like many of the other tournaments that year.

It wasn't until November of my junior year that Westwood made a grandstand performance in debate. My partner called the night before the fateful tournament. He predicted that we would be awesome.

The tournament was especially long that day. Many things went wrong. That day my partner and I won the first debate tournament for Westwood in five years. We were awesome!

Serving on the student council has been one of the finest experiences that I have had during my entire high school career. This organization provides opportunities for students who are outgoing and enjoy lots of hard work. Learning leadership, patience, and the administrative process of our school are just a few opportunities available.

People have different reasons for wanting to be a student council member. Some simply want the recognition; others want to help the students and be a major part of all student activities; and still others just enjoy doing a lot of work and doing that work with others. My reason is a combination of the two latter examples given.

I have spent the past two years working to serve those who elected me in the best ways I know. At this time I would like to thank each and every Warrior for his support and encouragement, I hope I have done a satisfactory job. I will always remember the times and trials experienced here. Thank you for allowing me to be your president and good luck in the years to come.

I have been involved in the Westwood D.E.C.A. chapter since my sophomore year here at Westwood. I can honestly say that it has been the most exciting and beneficial experience that I have had in my three years at Westwood. I started in the marketing class, which is taught by Randy Mertz, the D.E.C.A. adviser, and through the class I became involved in the Distributive Education Program. I learned a lot about business and placed both in the state and national competitions, thanks to the outstanding background Mr. Mertz had given me. My junior year I stayed involved in the club as a teacher's aid for the Distributive Education class. This year I was in the Distributive Education class, which is a work experience program that gives you credit for working and going to school. The competition and education D.E.C.A. has given me a great advantage at Arizona State University, as well as in the business world, but I think it gave me something even more valuable, I made friends throughout the state and nation, thanks to the competitions. More importantly, I got to know a lot of people here at Westwood; friends I will never forget. The person I would like to thank for my three at Westwood and in D.E.C.A. is Randy Mertz. He is the greatest teacher and the best friend any one could ask for, and he will always be someone very special to me

Dancer Is Gratified!

"Being in Dance Production has been exciting as well as exhausting. To see Dance Production perform a finished number may look as though it is all fun and glamour, but very few people ever see the many hours of practice that have been done.

Even though I may rehearse a step over and over until I'm sick of it, Dance Production is very rewarding. It's exciting to me to know that I've accomplished something that is enjoyable to see.

When I first began to perform on stage, it was quite frightening for me, but I knew then that I was doing my best and since the lights are so bright, I was not able to see the audience anyway. I feel that since I've been in Dance Production, I have gained more confidence to perform in front of people. Dance Production has really helped me. I've loved being a part of it!"

One Musicians Pride

"Being a part of the Westwood Symphony Orchestra has been a valuable and fun experience for me. I feel proud that our orchestra has a long-standing reputation of excellence."

Many regard the Westwood Orchestra as the best in the state of Arizona. I firmly believe this. We have proved this to be true time and time again. Every year Westwood continually has more musicians in Arizona All-State Orchestra and three times as many musicians in the Solo and Ensemble Festival than any other school in Arizona.

When I entered my first year in high school, I was well aware of the awesome responsibility facing each and every sophomore member of orchestra. It was up to us to keep the traditions alive- the standard of excellence high. Now, as graduating seniors, I feel we have succeeded in doing this."

Big Jump In Prices; Hockey Team Stuns Soviets

A confused America, looking for new direction, repudiates Jimmy Carter and elects Ronald Reagan to the highest office in the land ... American hostages in Iran are released just hours after Reagan takes office ... Jimmy Durante is dead at age 86. In an awesome explosion, Mr. St. Helens erupts and leaves hundreds dead and thousands homeless ... a screaming and cursing Jiang Quing, the widow of Mao Tse-tung, is dragged from the courtroom after the trial of the Gang of Four ends with all defendants found guilty ... Hollywood wizard Alfred Hitchcock is dead at age 80 ... Las Vegas is sabotaged as fires in the MGM Grand and the Hilton leave almost 100 dead and 800 injured. Poland dominates the headlines as labor revolts lead to Soviet unrest and the formation of labor unions ... the Soviets lose another one as the U.S. hockey team stuns the world by upsetting the U.S.S.R. en route to the Gold medal in the 1980 Winter Olympics ... the Oakland Raiders, on a wild card birth, thrash the Philadelphia Eagles in the super bowl. At age 40, John Lennon of the Beatles is gunned down outside his New York apartment ... Teenage sensation Brooke Shields proves that sex can be packaged rather neatly in a pair of jeans, but stations in New York refuse to air the Calvin Klein commercials as viewers call the advertisements "mindless", "rude" and "disgusting" ... Jesse Owens is dead at age 66. The streets of Miami burn as blacks riot in protest of the acquittal of three white police officers accused of savagely beating a black man to death ... The Murders of over 20 black youths in Atlanta leave authorities baffled ... Mae West is dead at age 87, and the would-be assassin of J.R. is revealed to be his mistress Kristen, millions of viewers made this episode of "Dallas" the most popular in T.V. history. Westwood principal James Sturdevant resigns to take a position in the National Guard ... the liberal city of Mesa fires a police officer who had a spotless record; he was a homosexual ... "I Want It", the 1981 senior class play, is an overwhelming success ... the girl's swim team takes divisionals ... the PLAIDS live and die, "bamfing" all the while ... the Senior Class leaves behind an awesome legacy, and the suave and debonair year is hailed as a complete success.

All these people deserve an extra special thank-you for aiding us in producing this book.

This book contains more than just pictures or words, more than most people would ever be able to guess. It contains the loyalty, dedication and abilities of many talented people. Without them, this publication would not be possible.

It contains memories dear to many and experiences we can all look back on. There are certain people who made this possible, whom that we as editors would like to thank.

First we would like to thank our staff, who gave so much. We started out the year with many greenhorns but ended it with many experts. All were dedicated and strove for perfection. Without their undaunted loyalty and work, this book would never be.

Next, John "DAD" Donovan. He gave us the space to make this book ours. He stood by and gave us guidance and advice when we needed it. He gave us confidence and assured us, that even with the problems, it could and would be done. He was there to guide when conflicts arose and to calm us when we went into our "anxiety fits". He endured the problems we caused him with other members of the faculty. He's given us many memories to cherish. But all the love and gratitude we have for him couldn't possibly be caught in a few lines in a book.

Muriel Robertson we thank you for putting up with the staff all year. She constantly heard; "Can we borrow this?" or "Do you have any of that?" she never let us down when we were in need.

To our families we give our all. They listened to all the gripes, struggles and successes we had. They gave us guidance and independence and never stood in the way when it was for the sake of the book. They let us take the reins of authority and find out for ourselves that it's not quite as we had envisioned. In this closing we would like to express all the love and thanks we have for them.

Our friends were often neglected and deserve our thanks for understanding. Those not associated with the book understood the loyalty and dedication we felt and those who were, understood it all the more. They listened to all we had to share, even though it meant little to them. They accepted our bad moods and tempers as part of our desire for perfection.

We would also like to thank Pat Dunbar and Graeme Sellers for putting a part of their intelligence into this publication. They wrote and corrected many copies for us although they were not a direct part of the staff. Jeane Welch we thank you for giving as much to this production as she did to the newspaper. Laurie Hunt, Katie Petrie, Anne Evans and Val Miller we thank for learning quickly and accepting the opportunity given. Mary Lowry we thank for adding so much with her crazy nature and creativeness.

We as editors would also like to thank each other for showing patience. There were many obstacles to overcome and we thank each other for not buckling under. We maintained our individualism while working as a team and even through all the conflicts, we kept our eyes on the same goal.

Most of all, we would like to thank you, the student body. Without you, there would be no need of a yearbook and we would never have gained the experiences we have.

Though a lot of space has been taken for thank-yous, none are underserving. We hope and pray that all your lives will be as rich as ours have been this past year.
